PREFACE

IN response to the request of a large number of the younger generation amongst those who have constituted the bulk of the sishyas of the Mutt, I have written this brief sketch of the origin and growth of Śrī Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi's Mutt at Mysore. It should have been very properly commenced with the history of Śrī Vedāntha Desika, the Great Teacher, Poet, Saint and Philosopher. But that history has been widely known to the bulk of the Śrīvaishṇavas of the South. I have therefore begun with Śrī Periya Brahmatantra Swatantra Swāmi, the immediate Sanyāsi successor of Śrī Nigamāntha Mahā Desika, who had the good fortune to receive the gift of the image of Śrī Lakshmī-Hayagrīva, worshipped in the Mutt. This humble work of mine is based upon (1) a study of the 'Guruparamparā-Prabhāvam' (a very much condensed work from that of the 3rd Brahmatantra Swatantra) published under the ægis of Śrī Krishna Brahmatantra Swatantra Parakāla Swāmi; (2) tradition handed down from centuries, preserved by the families counting themselves as the disciples of the Mutt from amongst whom the Swāmis presiding over the Mutt have been chosen; (3) a study of some of the works like the "Parakāla Guru Vijaya" and "Uttara Parakāla Guru Vijaya" relating to the Swāmis; (4) some inscriptions and important documents, sannads, etc., available in the Mutt. For the last, I am very grateful to Śrī Mukhāmi Narasimha Rāghavāchāriar, Mahāvidwān, who has allowed me access to them, by command of His Holiness the present Parakāla Swāmi.

I must remind my fellow-disciples, the readers, that they owe an incalculable debt of gratitude to the illustrious occupants of the great, universally revered, Royal Throne of Mysore, to whose continuous and unstinting and devoted patronage, the Mutt owes its eminent position and usefulness to the world at large. The disciples' unalloyed devotion and loyalty is due to the Rulers of this great Kingdom, which has played the most distinguished part in the preservation of the glorious culture of this beloved ancient land, once threatened with total destruction. I place this little work as a humble offering at the sacred lotus feet of “Śrī Lakshmī Hayavadana Divya Pādukā Sevaka Śrīmad Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakāla Mahā Desikar with the profoundest pranāmams. If the work will help the present and coming generations to cherish loyal devotion on their part to the institution and enable them to regulate their conduct, character and aspirations,—for the fulfilment of their souls—consistently with the ideals placed before them by the Swāmis and the Mysore Rulers, their Royal Sishyas, in the midst of the distractions to which mankind is subjected by the onrush of the modern ideas of “Civilisation”, I shall consider myself as having been richly rewarded.

The author takes this opportunity to record his deep indebtedness to Sri. A. S. Rāmanātha Ayyar, B.A., Madras, for his most valuable contribution in the Epigraphia Indica [Part VII, Vol. XXV, July 1940, pp. 318-26] entitled “Conjeevaram Inscription of Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar, Śaka 1282”. The learned article serves a memorable supplement to the “Guruparamparā-Prabhāvam” as regards the origins of the Mutt and the contributions made to its usefulness by that sage.

I take this opportunity to express my grateful thanks to Sri. V. V. Srīnivāsa Aiyangar Swāmi for having kindly written a Foreword to this humble work.

My warmest thanks are due to my friend, Sri. Chakravarthi Rāmānuja Iyengar, M.A., L.T., for his valuable suggestions, and to Sri. G. Srīnivāsa Rao, Superintendent, Bangalore Press, for its neat get-up.

My grateful thanks are also due to the eminent scholar, Sri. C. K. Venkata Rāmaiya, M.A., for kindly rendering the “Foreword” into Kannada, in his inimitable style.

FOREWORD

AT long last this brochure which might have been presented to the public a long time ago has now been prepared and published. His Holiness the present occupant of the pontifical throne, Srī Hayagrīva Divya Pādukā Sevaka Srimad Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmi of Srī Parakāla Mutt, Mysore, we may be sure, inspired and ordered a compilation of a record of the origin and history of the Mutt from all available sources. On my own behalf and on behalf of hundreds of thousands of devotees, I take this occasion to lay before His Holiness our profound sense of gratitude and gratification for this publication.

From all we are able to see and ascertain, Srī Parakāla Mutt, with its headquarters at present in the city of Mysore, is undoubtedly the first Vaishnавite Mutt in South India. Many things and institutions in the world have had only a small, if not, insignificant beginning. But the record here published to the world shows clearly that the Great Parakāla Mutt had a great and glorious beginning in the mandate of Srī Devarāja Swāmi of Kañchi followed up by a stone inscription regarding the event.

Asceticism has been constituted into an Āshrama in the map of human life according to our ancient scriptures. I wonder if any other map of life in any other country or religion has anything at once so natural, so beautiful, so ideal as that Āshrama. The donning of orange robes in due course according to this plan is the symbol and solemn dedication of the evening of life to the service of God and man. Even in these degenerate days when everything ancient seems to be in danger of being treated with ridicule, it is a matter for no small consolation that to-day we find so many great souls and spiritual leaders who have espoused that Āshrama are endeavouring each in his own manner and measure to promote ancient learning and spiritual revival. It is true that Sri Vedānta Desika did not himself enter that Āshrama. There can be no doubt that the choice was a deliberate decision on his part. But at the same time there is no doubt whatsoever that he held that Āshrama itself in the highest esteem if only from the use of such expressions as "YATI-RAJA", "YATICAKRAVARTI", "YATISARVABHAUMA". It is also most appropriate and fraught with great significance that the origins of modern Srīvaishnavaism are to be traced to the identical source.

Though we have not had any accurate account of the origin of such institutions as Mutts, there can be little doubt about their nature and purpose. They have always found their source in the magnetic and dynamic spiritual personalities of some great saint. The establishment of Mutts merely represents to us the hankering of the human mind to perpetuate and propagate whatever is for the good. While it is also true that most human institutions have tended as if by some irresistible law to deteriorate and degenerate, the Vaishnavite Mutts in South India such as Sri Parakala Mutt and Sri Ahobila Mutt have proved and established a vitality and strength sufficient to overcome any such tendencies. To-day we are proud of all our Mutts and also of those who adorn them as their heads.

Such Mutts are real corporations also. They may be described too as seminaries. They may be defined in terms of Gurukula. They are in essence also moving Universities for the spread of learning, secular and spiritual. They are also capable of being regarded as being great spiritual streams, taking their origin on some sacred peak and receiving during their course many tributaries making more and more for the breadth, depth and beauty of the great river. That is what Sri Parakala Mutt has been demonstrated to be, albeit in these few pages of mere recorded facts.

It is a matter for infinite pride and satisfaction that this Mutt has been traced historically and directly to Sri Vedanta Desika and through him to Bhagavad Ramanuja, not to go any further. It is a matter for even more importance and interest that the great founder of this Mutt was the direct disciple of Sri Vedanta Desika and was, beyond all questions, his spiritual son. If Sri Vedanta Desika attained the title and distinction of "Sarva Tantra Swatantra", this great disciple was claimed and acclaimed as "BRAHMATANTRA SWATANTRA" even by his own Acharya. More than all, the deity of Sri Lakshmi-

Hayagrīva worshipped daily even to-day at the Mutt at Mysore was the very Mūrti whom Sri Desika cherished and worshipped during his life even as, we are told, by Sri Bhagavad Rāmānuja himself before him. This is forsooth the truest kind of hierarchy.

While reading the brief accounts of one great saint after another who have during all these centuries sat on this pontifical throne, one cannot help putting to himself the question whether the world has ever witnessed such a wonderful apostolic succession. If indeed, the good fortune had been given to all the great and saintly souls to worship each in succession that very Hayagrīva-Mūrti which was worshipped centuries ago by the forbears of Srīvaishnavism, what of the unique characteristic and, if I may add, good fortune of the Deity itself to have come to be so highly and devotedly worshipped by such a distinguished line of great saints.

Even in these days of rank materialism, there are still thousands of true and sincere Hindus who are found to cherish in their heart of hearts the ancient ideals of life and learning. To all of them the sight of this record of valuable and great contributions to Srīvaishnavism made successively by the occupants of the Gādi in this Mutt, is a record of which any human institution may well be proud. If one thing in this booklet strikes the reader more than any other, it is the intensive effort made by so many of the Swāmis to travel all over the country with the Gods of their worship and their spiritual fire and light, carrying as it were to the doorway of every devotee all the benefits and blessings of Srīvaishnavaistic faith and philosophy. Times are changing, and indeed very fast. To-day and perhaps more than ever before, the need for such administration and propaganda is absolutely necessary. Will our present Swāmi not take into His gracious consideration at least the example so gloriously set by so many distinguished predecessors of his? One cannot be sure whether such a desideratum has not at the present day come to be even a duty. No institution even as no man, can live and function beneficially without increasing measures of adaptation to environment. Apart from travelling through the country there are other more obvious modern methods of teaching and propaganda. What is sorely needed at the present hour is to reach the mind of the rising generation and inform their minds and stimulate their interest concerning the vast and valuable spiritual treasures in Srīvaishnavaistic religion and philosophy, to lead and guide them, to enrich their souls and secure their salvation, here and hereafter.

The author of this treatise has concluded with a glowing tribute to His Holiness the present Swāmi. I have had the pleasure and privilege of coming into contact personally with that great saint. I well remember even now an occasion when on one of my visits to him, possibly the very first, I found him surrounded on all four sides by scores of books; and I voluntarily burst out "Tad hi Tapas—Tad hi Tapaḥ" ("That indeed is Tapas; That indeed is Tapas") standing reminded there and then of that Upanishadic exclamation, about Svādhyāya and Pravachana—about self-study and propagation of knowledge. His Holiness has already by his ideal devotion and strenuous life taken his proper place in the respect, devotion and affection of the public. To see him worship the Gods of his Mutt, the Gods of his heart, is to stand bedazzled into a realisation of what alone is ideal worship. I have been struck every time I witnessed the personal performance by him of the daily worship by an overwhelming sense that His Holiness has, by his great understanding, devotion, sincerity and realisation, made the act of worship a veritable fine art filling us with an intense appreciation of the idealistic beauty and transcendence of such worship.

Above all His Holiness seems to me to be one of the greatest economists of time and he is one of the very few I have come across who will be willing and able to render a good and satisfactory account of the twenty-four hours of each day which he believes he gets and holds in trust for the discharge of the functions connected with his great and holy office. I may also here declare my experience that whenever I have had the privilege of visiting the Mutt and worshipping there, my mind used to be irresistibly taken back to all the great saints and sages who have made the institution what it is and make me feel that somehow the spiritual personality and presence of all the great sages and saints in the apostolic hierarchy of the Mutt is still there capable of being felt and even imbibed by those who have a responsive spirit.

Such a Mutt and such a Swāmi should be a sufficient guarantee for the advancement of Sri-vaishnavism in South India.

ಶ್ರೀ ಪರಕಾಲಮರಿದ ಸೀತವನ್ನು ಲಂಕರಿಸುತ್ತ ಬಂದ ಸಾಧುವರೇಣ್ಯರ ಅನುಕ್ರಮವೂ, ಅವರ ದಿವ್ಯಚರಿತಕ್ಕೆ ಸಂಬಂಧಪಟ್ಟ ಸಂಗತಿಗಳೂ ಈ ಗ್ರಂಥದಲ್ಲಿ ಸಂಕ್ಷೇಪವಾಗಿ ಸೂಚಿತವಾಗಿವೆಯಷ್ಟೇ. ಅವುಗಳನ್ನು ಓದಿದ ಯಾರೊಬ್ಬರ ಮನಸ್ಸಿಗೇ ಆಗಲ “ಮತ್ತಿಲ್ಲಿಯಾದರೂ ಈ ಬಗೆಯ ಮಹಾನುಭಾವರ ಪರಂಪರೆಯು ಪ್ರಪಂಚದಲ್ಲಿ ಕಂಡುಬಂದಿದೆಯೆ” ಎಂಬ ಪ್ರಶ್ನೆಯ ಹೊಳೆಯದಿರಲಾರದು. ಶ್ರೀವೈಷ್ಣವಸಿದ್ಧಾಂತ ಪ್ರತಿವಾದಕರಾದ ಮೂಲಪುರುಷರಿಂದ ಹಿಡಿದು ಇಂದಿನವರೆಗೂ ಅನೇಕ ಶತಮಾನಗಳಕಾಲ ಇಷ್ಟ ಮಂದಿ ಸಾಧುವರೇಣ್ಯರಾದ ಮಹಾನುಭಾವರ ಸುಯೋಗವು ಈ ಹಯಗ್ರೀವ ಮೂರ್ತಿಯವರ ವಿಗ್ರಹಕ್ಕೆ ಪೂಜಿಸುವುದಾಗಿದ್ದವೇಳೆ, ಇಷ್ಟಮಂದಿ ಪರಂಪರಾಗತರಾದ ಸಾಧುವರೇಣ್ಯರಾದ ಮಹಾನುಭಾವರ ಭಕ್ತಿಯುತವಾದ ಪೂಜೆಯನ್ನು ಸ್ವೀಕರಿಸುತ್ತ ಬಂದಿರುವ ಶ್ರೀ ಲಕ್ಷ್ಮೀ ಹಯಗ್ರೀವ ಮೂರ್ತಿಯವರ ಸುಯೋಗವೂ ಎಷ್ಟೆಂದು ನನ್ನ ಮನಸ್ಸಿಗೆ ತೋರುತ್ತಿದೆ.

ಬಹುತರವಾಗಿ ನಾಸ್ತಿಕತೆಯೇ ವಿಷ್ಟಂಭಿಸುತ್ತಿರುವ ಈಗಿನ ಸಮಯದಲ್ಲಿ ಕೂಡ, ಅಸ್ತಿಕ ಲಕ್ಷಣವಾದ ಪ್ರಾಚೀನ ಸಂಪ್ರದಾಯ ಗಳಲ್ಲಿಯೂ ಅಥವಾತ್ಮಿಕ ವಿದ್ಯೆಯಲ್ಲಿಯೂ ವಿಶ್ವಾಸವುಳ್ಳ ಅಭಿಮಾನ ಶಾಲಿಗಳಾದ ಲಕ್ಷ್ಮೀಪಲಕ್ಷ್ಮಿ ಹಿಂದುಗಳಿಂದಾಗಿ— ಅವರೆಲ್ಲರೂ— ಈ ಗ್ರಂಥದಲ್ಲಿ ಸೂಚಿತವಾಗಿರುವಂತೆ—ಶ್ರೀ ಪರಕಾಲ ಮತದ ಸೀತಾಧಿಕಾರಿಗಳ ಪರಂಪರೆಯಲ್ಲಿ ಬೆಳಗಿದ ಮತ್ತು ಬೆಳಗುತ್ತಿರುವ ಮಹಾನುಭಾವರಿಂದ ಶ್ರೀವೈಷ್ಣವ ಸಿದ್ಧಾಂತಕ್ಕೆ ಸಮರ್ಪಿತವಾಗಿರುವ ಸೇವೆಯು ಮಾನವ ಕಲ್ಪಿತವಾದ ಯಾವ ಸಂಸ್ಥೆಯಾದರೂ ಹೆಮೇಷ್ಟ ಪಡುವಂತಿದೆ ಯೆಂದು ಹಷಿತಸುವುದರಲ್ಲಿ ಸಂದೇಹವಿಲ್ಲ. ಈ ಗ್ರಂಥವನ್ನು ಓದಿದರೆ, ಇತರ ಸಂಗತಿಗಳೆಲ್ಲಕ್ಕೂಂತಲೂ ಮಿಗಿಲಾಗಿ ಮನದಟ್ಟಾಗುವ ಸಂಗತಿಯೊಂದಿದೆ; ಈ ಮತದ ಅನೇಕ ಮಂದಿ ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರು, ತಾವು ಆರಾಧಿಸುವ ಶ್ರೀ ಲಕ್ಷ್ಮೀ ಹಯಗ್ರೀವ ಮಂತ್ರಿಯವರ ವಿಗ್ರಹವನ್ನೂ ಮತ್ತು ಇತರ ವಿಗ್ರಹಗಳನ್ನೂ ತೆಗೆದುಕೊಂಡು ನಾಡಿನ ನಾನಾ ಸ್ಥಳಗಳಿಗೂ ದಯಮಾಡಿ, ಭಕ್ತಕೋಟಿಯ ಬಾಗಿಲಿಗೇ ಪಾರಮಾರ್ಥಿಕ ತೇಜಸ್ಸು ಜ್ಞಾನಜ್ಯೋತಿಯೂ ಬಂದಂತೆ ವರ್ತಿಸಿ, ಶ್ರೀ ವೈಷ್ಣವ ಸಿದ್ಧಾಂತವನ್ನೂ ಸಂಪ್ರದಾಯಗಳನ್ನೂ ಭಕ್ತಕೋಟಿಗೆ ಬೋಧಿಸಿ ಕೃಪೆ ಮಾಡಿರುವುದೇ ಆ ಸಂಗತಿ. ಕಾಲವು ಬಹು ಶೀಷ್ಟವಾಗಿ ಮಾರ್ಪಡುತ್ತಿದೆ. ಆದಕಾರಣ ಹಿಂದೆ ಮತ್ತಾವಾಗಲೂ ಅವಶ್ಯವಾಗಿಲ್ಲದಷ್ಟು ಮಟ್ಟಿಗೆ ಈ ಬಗೆಯ ಧರ್ಮಚೋಧೀಯು ಇಂದು ಅಗತ್ಯವಾಗಿದೆ. ಈಗಿನ ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರೂ ತಮ್ಮ ಹಿಂದಿನ ಸೀತಾಧಿಕಾರಿಗಳಾದ ಅನೇಕ ಮಂದಿಗಳ ಭವ್ಯತರವಾದ ಮೇಲ್ಪುಂಕ್ತಿಯನ್ನೇ ತಾವೂ ಅನುಸರಿಸಿ ಅವರಂತೆಯೇ ಧರ್ಮಚೋಧೀಮಾಡಲು ಪ್ರವಾಸವನ್ನು ಕೈಕೊಂಡು ಕೃಪೆ ಮಾಡುವರೆಂದು ನಾವು ಪ್ರಾರ್ಥಿಸಿ ನಿರಿಕ್ಷಿಸಬಹುದಲ್ಲವೇ? ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರು ಹಾಗೆ ಕೃಪಮಾಡಬೇಕಾದುದು ಅವಶ್ಯಕತೆವ್ಯವೆಂದು ತೋರುವ ಸಮಯವು ಸನ್ನಿಹಿತವಾಗಿದೆಯೆಂದು ಕೂಡ ಹೇಳಬಹುದಾಗಿದೆ. ಸನ್ನಿಹಿತಕ್ಕೆ ಹೊಂದಿಕೊಂಡು ವರ್ತಿಸುವುದಕ್ಕೆ ಸಾಧಕವಾಗುವಂತೆ ತಕ್ಷಣವನ್ನೆಗಳನ್ನು ಕ್ಷಲಿಸಿಕೊಂಡಲ್ಲದೆ, ಯಾವ ಸಂಸ್ಥೆಯಾಗಲಿ ಅಥವಾ

ಯಾವ ವ್ಯಕ್ತಿಯಾಗಲಿ ಉತ್ತಮಸ್ಥಿತಿಯಲ್ಲಿ ಬಾಳುವದು ಸಾಧ್ಯವಿಲ್ಲ. ನಾಡಿನಲ್ಲೆಲ್ಲ ಸರ್ಚಾರವನಾಡುವುದರೆ ಜೊತೆಗೆ, ಈಗಿನ ಕಾಲದ ಇತರೆ ಬೋಧನ ಮತ್ತು ಪ್ರಚಾರ ವಿಧಾನಗಳೂ ಇವೆ. ಇಂದು ಅತ್ಯಗತ್ಯವಾಗಿ ಸೇರವೇರಿಸಬೇಕಾಗಿರುವ ಕಾರ್ಯವೆಂದರೆ, ತರುಣರನ್ನು ಜಾಗೃತಿಗೊಳಿಸಿ, ಶ್ರೀನೇಷ್ಟ್ವನ ಮತದ ಮತ್ತು ಶ್ರೀನೇಷ್ಟ್ವನ ಸಿದ್ಧಾಂತದ ಅಮೂಲ್ಯವಾದ ಮತ್ತು ಗಹನವಾದ ಜ್ಞಾನಭಂಡಾರದ ಪರಿಚಯವನ್ನು ಅವರಿಗೆ ಮಾಡಿಕೊಟ್ಟು, ಅವರಿಗೆ ಅದರಲ್ಲಿ ಆಸಕ್ತಿಯುಂಟಾಗುವಂತೆಯೂ ಮತ್ತು ಅವರ ಜ್ಞಾನಾನುಭವಗಳು ವ್ಯಧಿಯಾಗುವಂತೆಯೂ ಮಾಡುವ ಮತ್ತು ಐಹಿಕಾರ್ಯಾಸ್ತ್ರಕ್ಕೆ ವಿಚಾರಗಳೇರಡಿರಲ್ಪಿಯೂ ಅವರು ಚರಿತಾರ್ಥರಾಗಲು ಸಾಧಕವಾಗುವ ಸನ್ಧಾಗ್ರ ಪ್ರದರ್ಶನಮಾಡುವ ಮಹತ್ತರ ಕಾರ್ಯ.

ಈ ಗ್ರಂಥಕರ್ತರು, ಶ್ರೀ ಪರಕಾಲಮಂತದ ಈಗಿನ ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರ ಮೇಲಿನ ಭಕ್ತಿ ವಿಶ್ವಾಸಪೂರ್ವಕವಾದ ಶಾಖಾಫಾನೆಯ ಮಾತುಗಳಿಂದ ಗ್ರಂಥವನ್ನು ಮುಕ್ತಾಯಗೊಳಿಸಿದ್ದಾರೆ. ವಿರಕ್ತಶ್ರೀಷ್ಟರಾದ ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರ ಪರಿಚಯಲಾಭದ ಸುಯೋಗವನ್ನು ನಾನು ಪಡೆದಿದ್ದೇನೆ. ನಾನು ಹೊಟ್ಟೆಹೊದಲನೆಯಸಾರಿ ಆವರನ್ನು ಸಂದರ್ಶಿಸಿದಾಗಲೋ—ಅಥವಾ ಆ ತರುವಾಯನೋ—ಕಂಡ ದೃಶ್ಯವು ಈಗಲೂ ನನ್ನ ಕಣ್ಣಿಗೆ ಕಟ್ಟಿದಂತಿದೆ. ಆಗ್ಗೆ ಅವರು ತಮ್ಮ ಸುತ್ತಲೂ ಹೆಲವಾರು ಗ್ರಂಥಗಳನ್ನು ಹರಡಿಕೊಂಡು ವ್ಯಾಸಂಗಮಗ್ನರಾಗಿದ್ದರು. ಆ ಸ್ಥಿತಿಯಲ್ಲಿ ಅವರ ಸಂದರ್ಶನ ಭಾಗ್ಯವು ನನಗೆ ಲಭಿಸಿದಾಗ, ನನ್ನ ಪರಿವೆಯೇ ಇಲ್ಲದಂತೆ ನನ್ನ ಮನಸ್ಸು “ತದ್ವಿತಪಸ್ತದಿ ತಪಸ್” (“ಅದೇ ತಪಸ್ಸು, ಅದೇ ತಪಸ್ಸು”) ಎಂದು ಹೇಳಿಕೊಂಡಿತು; ಸ್ವಾಧ್ಯಾಯ ಮತ್ತು ಪ್ರವಚನಗಳನ್ನು ಕುರಿತ ಉಪಸಿಷತ್ತಿನ ಆ ಅಮರ ವಾಣಿಗಳನ್ನು ನಾನು ಸ್ವೀಕರಿಸಿ ತಂದುಕೊಂಡು ಆನಂದಿಸಿದೆ. ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರು ತಮ್ಮ ಅಸಾಧಾರಣವಾದ ಸ್ವಾಧ್ಯಾಯ ಪ್ರವಚನಗಳಿಂದಲೂ ಮತ್ತು ವಿರಕ್ತ ಜೀವನದಿಂದಲೂ ಶಿವ್ಯಕೊಂಡಿಯ ಶ್ರೀಯಸ್ಸಿಗಾಗಿ ಶ್ರಮಿಸುತ್ತ, ಸಾರ್ವಜನಿಕರ ಭಕ್ತಿಗಾರವರಗಳನ್ನೂ ಪ್ರೀತಿ ವಿಶ್ವಾಸಗಳನ್ನೂ ಗಳಿಸಿದ್ದಾರೆ.

ಅವರು ಭಕ್ತಿಯಿಂದ ಆರಾಧಿಸುತ್ತಿರುವ ಮೂಲತೀರ್ಥಗಳ ಪೂಜೆಯನ್ನು ಸೇರಬೇರಿಸುವ ವಿಧಾನವನ್ನು ನೋಡಿದರೆ, ಭಕ್ತಿ ಹಾರವಶ್ಯದ ಆದರ್ಶ ಪೂಜಾವಿಧಾನವೂ ಹೇಗಿರುತ್ತದೆಂಬುದು ಮನಸ್ಸಿಗೆ ಗೋಚರವಾಗಿ ಮೈಮರೆಯುವಂತಾಗುತ್ತದೆ; ಅನಂದಾಧಿಕ್ಷಯದಿಂದ ರೋಮಾಂಜನ ವೃಂಢಾಗುತ್ತದೆ. ಶ್ರೀ ಪರಕಾಲ ಮತದಲ್ಲಿ ಅವರಿಂದ ನಡೆಯುವ ಪೂಜೆಯನ್ನು ನೋಡುವ ಸುಯೋಗವು ಲಭಿಸಿದ ಪ್ರತಿಯೊಂದು ಸಲವೂ, ಸನಗಿ ಆ ಬಗೆಯ ಅನುಭವವುಂಟಾಗಿದೆ; ಅಲ್ಲದೆ, ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರು ತಮ್ಮ ಜ್ಞಾನ ಭಕ್ತಿಗಳ ಮತ್ತು ಶ್ರದ್ಧಾ ಸಾಕ್ಷಾತ್ಕಾರಗಳ ಪ್ರಭಾವ ದಿಂದ ಪೂಜೆಯನ್ನೇ ಒಂದು ಲಲಿತಕಲೆಯನ್ನಾಗಿ ಪರಿಣಾಮ ಗೊಳಿಸಿ ಪೂಜೆಯ ಸೊಬಗೂ ಮತ್ತು ಅದರ ಲೋಕೋತ್ತರ ಸ್ವಭಾವವೂ ಹೃದಯಂಗಮವಾಗಿ ನಮ್ಮ ಮನಸ್ಸಿಗೆ ಗೋಚರವಾಗುವಂತೆ ಮಾಡಿದ್ದಾರೆ.

ಎಲ್ಲಕ್ಕೂ ಮಿಗಿಲಾಗಿ ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರು, ತಮ್ಮ ಕಾಲವನ್ನು ಸಂಪೂರ್ಣವಾಗಿ ಸದ್ವಿನಿಯೋಗಮಾಡಿ ಶ್ರೀಯೋಭಿವೃದ್ಧಿಯಲ್ಲಿ ಮಗ್ನಾರಾಗಿರುವ ಮಹಿಳೆಯರಲ್ಲಿಬ್ಬರೆಂದು ನನ್ನ ಮನಸ್ಸಿಗೆ ಖಚಿತವಾಗಿ ತೋರಿಬಂದಿದೆ. ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರು ಒಂದು ಕ್ವಾಣವನ್ನೂ ವ್ಯಘರ್ಣವಾಗಿ ಕಳೆಯುವವರಲ್ಲ. ಹೀಗೆ ಸತ್ಯಾಲಕ್ಷ್ಮೇಪಮಾಡುವವರ ಸಂಖ್ಯೆಯು ತೀರ್ಕಾಡೆನೆಯೆಂದು ಹೇಳಬಹುದಾಗಿದೆ. ತಮುಗೆ ಲಭಿಸಿರುವ ಕಾಲವೆಲ್ಲ, ತಮ್ಮ ಸೀತಾಧಿಕಾರಸಂಬಂಧವಾದ ನಾನಾ ಕರ್ತವ್ಯಗಳಿಗೂ ಮಿಂದ ಲಾಗಿದ್ದ ತಾವು ಗುರುತರವಾದ ಆ ಕರ್ತವ್ಯಗಳನ್ನು ನಿರ್ವಹಿಸಬೇಕೆಂಬುದೇ ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರ ಆಕಾಂಕ್ಷೆ ಮತ್ತು ಸ್ಥಿರಸಂಕಲ್ಪ. ಶ್ರೀ ಪರಕಾಲಮತಕ್ಕೆ ಒಂದು ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳವರ ಪೂಜಾವಿಧಿಯನ್ನು ನೋಡುವ ಸುಯೋಗವು ನನಗೆ ಲಭಿಸಿದಾಗಲೆಲ್ಲ, ಶ್ರೀ ಮತವನ್ನು ಹಿಂದಿನಿಂದಲೂ ಪುರೋಭಿವೃದ್ಧಿಗೊಳಿಸಲು ಶ್ರಮಿಸಿದ ವಿರಕ್ತಶ್ರೀಷ್ಟರಾದ ಮತ್ತು ತಪಸ್ಸಿಗಳಾದ ಪಿಠಾಧಿಕಾರಿಗಳ ಅಂತರಾತ್ಮಗಳು ತಮ್ಮ ತೇಜಶ್ವರೀರಗಳನ್ನು ಬೆಳಗುತ್ತ ಪೂಜಾಕಾಲದಲ್ಲಿ ಬಿಜಯಂಗ್ರೇಡಿದುವಂತೆಯೇ ನನ್ನ ಮನಸ್ಸಿಗೆ ತೋರಿ ಒಂದಿದೆ; ಭಕ್ತಿಯಿಂದ ಅನುಸಂಧಾನಮಾಡಿದರೆ, ಅವರೆಲ್ಲ ರ

ಕೃಪೆಗೂ ಪಾತ್ರವಾಗಿ ಅವರ ಸಾನ್ಮಾಧ್ಯದ ಆನಂದಾನುಭವವುಂಟಾಗುವುದು ಕೂಡ ಸಾಧ್ಯವೇಂಬ ಭಾವನೆಯು ನನಗುಂಟಾಗಿದೆ.

ಇಂತಹ ಮರ್ಪೂ, ಇಂತಹ ಮಹಾನುಭಾವರಾದ ಶ್ರೀ ಶ್ರೀಗಳ ವರೂ ಇರುವಲ್ಲಿ, ದಕ್ಷಿಣ ಭಾರತದಲ್ಲಿ ಶ್ರೀವೈಷ್ಣವ ಮತದ ಪುರೋಧಿ ನೃದಿಂಜಿ ಸಾಧನೆಯು ಏಕಪ್ರಕಾರವಾಗಿ ಮುಂದುವರಿದು ಶ್ರೀಯಸ್ಸಂ ಹಾಗುವುದೆಂಬುದರಲ್ಲಿ ಲೇಶಮಾತ್ರವೂ ಸಂದೇಹವೇ ಇಲ್ಲ.

The Origin and Growth OF Sri Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt

THE first quarter of the 14th century of the Christian era had to witness an awful crisis in the history of South India which, had it been allowed to develop unchecked, would have sounded the death-knell of the Orthodox Hinduism of Ages. From such a development the ancient faith was saved by the rulers and saints inhabiting the regions in and near the borders of the countries which were included within the sway of the Hoysalas of Mysore. They not only saved it but revitalised it in such a manner that the age-long creed even to this day promises to survive the most terribly organised attacks, which may be planned against it, even in the coming centuries.

कलिप्रणिधिलक्षणैः कलितशाक्यलोकायितैः

तुरुषक्यवनादिभिर्जगति जृम्भमाणं भयम् ।

प्रकृष्टनिजशक्तिभिः प्रसभमासुधैः पञ्चभिः

क्षितित्रिदशरक्षकैः क्षपय रङ्गनाथ क्षणात् ॥ श्रीमदभीतिस्तवः ॥

The crisis was caused by the blitz of Malik Kafur, which, before it reached the extreme end of the peninsula, left the realm of Hoysalas of Dwāra Samudra a complete wreck, materially at least (for, the spiritual fire was there still burning as of old in the breasts of the inhabitants of the once prosperous country, which, within less than quarter of a century, blazed forth again as the result of the spiritual and organising powers of the great Vidyāranya and his brother Sāyaṇāchārya, the founders of Vijayanagar).

Away in the south and the eastern regions below the Ghats, the renowned Śri Vaishṇava saints and scholars, inhabiting the dominions which constituted the ancient Chola, and later, the wrecked Pāṇḍyan Empires, had helped preserve the ancient spiritual heritage of the land

(1) by their teachings,

(2) by the monumental works which they wrote, and

(3) by their own selfless, devoted and austere lives.

Among such scholar saints of the Tamilnad, the most famous and revered personality was that of Śrī Vedāntha Desika or Vēnkata Nātha (reference in “Alfonso de Albuquerque” “Rulers of India” Series) of Kāncheepuram.

When the Tamil land was exposed, at the opening of the second quarter of the 14th century of the Christian era, to a simultaneous and concerted attack by the armies of Muhammad Bin Tughlak from the north and those of the Sultans of Madura from the South,—a creation of Malik Kafur,—a slaughter, unparalleled in the annals of that sacred and beautiful land, ensued. Out of the holocaust of human beings, a few, however, succeeded in effecting their escape with some of their monumental works and a few devoted followers. The most famous of these was Śrī Vedāntha Desika, who, having heard of the security which had just been ensured to the Hoysala people by the might of the arms of Vīra Ballāla III (A.D.

1292–1342), had, after a sojourn of 12 years as a fugitive in the remote village of Satyāgālam on the Cauvery (Coimbatore District), had made his way to Melkote (Thirunārāyaṇapuram in Mysore country, “Melnad”—as the Tamil people called it in contrast to their own country below the Ghats, “Keelnad”). There, as in Satyāgālam, in the midst of the most picturesque and peaceful environments, the great scholar-saint continued his work for a long time, which had been interrupted under the most tragic circumstances in his own native land.

But, by this time, about the middle of the century, the determined assault on the Kannada country from the north, the east and the south, had been shattered by Hoysala Veera Ballāla III from his position at Kaṇṇanur Kuppam near Srīrangam in the south, operating against the Madura Sultans as well as the northern armies from Delhi, and by the newly established Vijayanagar Sovereign Hakka (Harihara I) and Kumāra Kampana, the former under the guidance of Śri Vidyāraṇya and the latter under that of Sāyaṇāchārya, his brother. Thus, it was the Kannadiga Sovereigns to whom destiny allotted the task of preserving, and later enriching, the ancient faith and culture of the land. Under the ægis and the sheltering umbrella of the Vijayanagar Sovereigns, the culture and religion of the land once more began to show forth with added glory and lustre. Within the embrace of that Empire, the Advaita, Dvaita and Vishistādvaita systems of philosophy, under the respective teachers, developed and flourished, unimpaired and unhampered by any unhealthy rivalries or jealousies.

It may be said that Śrī Vedāntha Desika from Melkote carried on the work which had been started there two and half centuries ago by his predecessor in the spiritual hierarchy, Bhagavān Śrī Rāmānuja, for a long time before he returned to Kāncheepuram and Srīrangam. It is, indeed, a strange and predetermined destiny that that work should, to this day, after a lapse of nearly six centuries, be continued without interruption under the Gāndabherunda of the Mysore Rulers, blessed by the occupants of the Gādi of Śrī Brahmatantra Swatantra Parakāla Swāmies of Mysore, the Rājagurus, successors of the First Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar, the immediate successor of Śrī Vedāntha Desika in the spiritual pedigree of Śrī Rāmānuja (as far as the Vadagale-Achāryas are concerned) and founder of the Śrī Brahmatantra Maṭha, originally in Kāncheepuram and later at Thirupathi.

Unbroken tradition has it that Śrī Rāmānuja got the gift of Śrī Lakshmī Hayagrīva's image, worshipped in the Brahmatantra Parakāla Maṭha of Mysore, directly from Śrī Saraswati in recognition of the expounding of the Vishistādvaita system of philosophy before the assemblage of Pandits of Kashmir "Saraswati Peeṭham" about the beginning of the twelfth century, during his visit to that country, even as Śrī Śankarāchārya, under similar circumstances, got the image of Śrī Shārada herself three centuries earlier. From Śrī Rāmānuja the image of

Sri Bhagavad Ramanujamunayaha

Sriman Nigamanta Maha Desikar

Śrī Hayagrīva and, with it, the spiritual succession, passed on to Tirukkurukkaiippirān Pillān. From Śrī Puṇḍarīkāksha, a scion of that distinguished saint, who also had become the Rājaguru to the Vijayanagara Emperor, the image, with all attendant Imperial paraphernalia, passed on to Śrī Vedāntha Desikar and from him to Śrī Periya Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar at Kāncheepuram.

By the close of the 14th century A.D. the Empire of Vjiayanagar had been established on secure foundations for over half a century by the concerted efforts of the sovereigns and their ministers and army leaders, who combined undisputed spiritual power with their profound and unerring statesmanship. The march northward of the Empire was continued as far as the Mahānadi, embracing the Kingdom of Kondavīdu. The advance, too, southward, as far as the Kanyā-kumāri and the extension towards both the coasts about the same period secured to the Peninsula an uninterrupted revival of power and prosperity. Princes and peasants, army leaders and Daṇḍā-nāyakas (Viceroy) vied with one another in the attempt to revive the glory of the past in the field of literature, philosophy, the arts, as also in practical devotion. Amongst the last was the blessed Śrī Yadurāya or Vijayarāya who, during his pilgrimage to the south, to Yādavādri or Melukote, after worshiping Vindhyačhala Vāsinī (the Goddess who prepared the ground for the avatār of Lord Śrī Krishṇa, his ancestor), happened to come into contact on the way from Vindhyačhal with Śrī Brahmatantra

Swatantra Jeeyar at Thirupathi, the holy shrine of Lord Śrī Venkatesha. The Jeeyar, having founded a Mutt in Conjeevaram in 1360 A.D. (Epigraphia Indica, Vol. XXIV, Part vii, July 1940. pp. 318–326) had by now (1379 A.D.) removed his headquarters to Thirupathi. Its remoteness from turmoil, the grandeur of the surrounding hilly country, and its being the resort of all classes and communities, hailing from the most distant regions of India, of Marathi-speaking peoples, of Kannadigars, of the Andhras, of the Bengalis, of the Hindusthanis, of the Punjabis, of Kashmiris, and of course, the Tamilians, all these considerations prompted Śrī Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar to stay there, at Thirupathi, permanently ministering to the spiritual cravings of Hindus from all Hindusthan, who had been kept in terror and dismay by the kaleidoscopic changes happening over three centuries. Moreover, there was no longer the need felt for a continuous stay in the Tamilnād, which had been the home of ever-raging religious controversies between the various schools of thought like the Dvaita, Advaita and Vishistādvaita, etc. The age of controversies had passed. Śrī Vedāntha Desika, Śrī Pillai Lokāchārya, Śrī Vidyāraṇya, Śrīmat Akshobhya Theertha and others—all had definitely succeeded in effecting the final settlement of their respective systems. The age of Bhakti and the practice of devotion and the unhindered development of gnyānam had ensued, thanks to the peace and security guaranteed by the Vijayanagar Sovereigns to the southern peoples.

Sri Brahmatantra-

Maharaja Sri Yaduraya Wodiyar

Thirupathi was away from the regions of controversies. Added to this, Sannyāsins, having discarded family ties, and uninfluenced, therfore by consideration of patronage, favour or disfavour of men in power, and such, had by this time come to enjoy the confidence and esteem of people more than the Grihasthas, however much learned they might be. Śrī Vidyāraṇya, by assuming the Sanyāsāshramam, had acquired greater power and influence and was able to command the devotion of Emperors in a far higher degree than their grihastha ministers like Mādhavamantri and other members of the cabinet, not to speak of his own brother, the great Sāyaṇāchārya, the commentator of the Vedās and the Minister and Adviser of Śrī Kumāra Kampana. Thus it was that the Brahmatantra Maṭha at Thirupathi became the rallying centre of all conditions of men and women who had elected to tread the path of Bhakti and Prapatti.

The great Yadurāya, who might have held the exalted position in the regions of the Godāvari as a “Bhoopāla”, having acquired the blessings of Śrī Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar and the sacraments of the Sri Vaishṇava faith, decided to make the Mysore country, to which he was appointed Viceroy, (Daṇḍanāyaka) his own home. Having become the Lord of Mysore (1399 A.D.), he directed himself to the task of furthering the practice of the Vaishṇava faith in his own realm while consolidating his dominion. One of his first acts in this direction was the construction of the gateway (unfinished Rājagopuram) at Melkote, the great centre of Śrī Vaishṇava faith in Mysore, which had now acquired the position hitherto held by Srīrangam and Kāncheepuram in the cult of temple worship, which forms still an integral part of the practice of Śri Vaishṇava faith. In a poem which Śrī Vedāntha Desika has composed in memory of the connections of Śrī Rāmānuja with the great religious centres, Thirupathi, Srīrangam, Kāncheepuram, Thirunārāyaṇapuram (Melkote), the “Divyadēsha Mangalānuśāsanam,” he has characterised the last, “Yādavādri” (Melkote) as the most favoured of Divya-Deshams by Śrī Rāmānuja who sojourned there for nearly a decade.

Amongst the non-controversial works attributed to Brahmatantra Swatantra Swāmi was “The Divya Sūri Stotram”, composed to enable the Bhaktas to cherish constantly the memories of the ancient saints and Achāryas of the faith. In recognition of his services to the faith, Lord Śrī Venkatesha appeared, it is said, in Brahmatantra Swatantra Swāmi’s dream and commanded him to take up the supervision of the management (Śrī Kāryam) of His shrine and regulate also the services to be conducted therein in accordance with the Śrī Vaishṇava Sampradāyam as had been laid down by Śrī Rāmānuja. The connection established by Śrī Brahmatantra, at this time, between the Royal Family of Mysore and the Thirumalai Shrine is still perpetuated—eternally—by the great lamp endowed by the Rulers of Mysore which is kept burning by them all through these centuries in that shrine. The establishment of this connection was the crowning work accomplished by the great Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar. May the lamp, the symbol of the Sanāthana Dharmā, and may the Yādava Family of Mysore which kindled the lamp continue like this for ever and ever in ever-increasing lustre !

Sri Dwiteeya Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar

To continue the work which had been entrusted to him by Śrī Vedāntha Desika and Lord Śrī Venkatesha, Śrī Brahmatantra Swatantra appointed as his successor in the Gādi, Śrī Perarulaliyan (formerly a most distinguished exponent of the Advaita system hailing from the north, whom after a disputation lasting seven days in Conjeevaram he succeeded in overcoming and whom, at his own request and at the command of Śrī Venkatesha deity, he converted to the Vishistādvaitam creed). Perarulaliyan (that is, Varada Rāja) had now become “Śrī Vāthsya Vedāntha Rāmānuja Swāmin” or “Dvithīya Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar”.

Another work of great importance accomplished by Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar was the organisation and equipment of a Pustakabhāndāgāram in the Maṭha which he had founded in Conjeevaram in 1360 A.D. The great Library naturally came to contain within it the several hundreds of books which his successor and former disciple before conversion had brought with him. It must be presumed that the hundreds of disciples by whom the distinguished scholar from the north was accompanied, now became his disciples too.

Orthodox Śrī Vaishṇavas are enjoined to regulate their lives so as to conform to what has been described as the “Panchakāla Paṭha”. Sannyāsins, free from every other concern, were naturally able to tread this path. In consonance with the spirit of the rule they were bound to do everything possible

- (1) to help their disciples to redeem themselves by receiving the “Pancha Samskāram” or “Samāshrayanam”;
- (2) the expounding of Śrī Bhāṣya, Sreemath Rahasyatrayasāra, Śrī Bhagavadvishayam, Śrī Bhagavad Geeta, Upanishads and allied works on the Siddhāntha;
- (3) the production of further works calculated to expound the intricacies in and simplify the earlier voluminous works on the same;
- (4) the delivering of Lectures on the Ithihāsas and the Purāṇas;
- (5) and, more than anything else, helping the seeker after salvation to offer “Sharanāgati” or “Bharanyāsam” or “Prapatti” to God;
- (6) making journeys to sacred places and to the Rajāsthānams, if invited, for the performance of what may be called the “Dharma Dīvijayam”, whenever possible.

Kings, chiefs and wealthy persons co-operated in such work and rendered every possible support. Royal patronage came to be accorded to such distinguished Swāmies during the epoch of the Vijayanagar Emperors. If the sovereigns who founded the first Vijayanagar dynasty granted such patronage

Sri Sri Gnanabdhi Brahmatantra Swatantra

to Achāryas like Śrī Vidyāraṇya, whose successors became their family Gurus, later Vijayanagar Sovereigns extended such patronage not only to their own family Gurus (Grihasthas) the Tātāchāryas, they ungrudgingly showered the same on Maṭhadhipathies of other sects also. Why, they even showed similar favour to the Portuguese and to the Muslims. This spirit of tolerance has always been the characteristic feature of the Hindu faith.

Expounding the works written by Śrī Ālavandar (Yāmunāchārya), Śrī Bhāshyakārar, Śrī Sudarśana Bhattar and Śrī Vedāntha Desika itself was just enough to keep the Swāmies of the Brahmatantra Mutt fully engaged during the pretty long lives which most of them lived. From the first Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar, the founder, up to Śrī Jnānābdhi Brahmatantra Swatantra Swāmi, there were fifteen occupants of the seat of Brahmatantra (1360–1600), a period of two and half centuries.

Sri Jnanabdhi Brahmatantra Swatantra Swami

Śrī Jnānābdhi Brahmatantra Swatantra Swāmi is credited to have made a most important addition to the library of Śrī Vaishṇava Philosophical Literature through his disciple, Śrī Ranga Rāmānuja Swāmi who, at the instance of his Āchārya, wrote the following works among others :

- (1) Bhāva Prakāsika,
- (2) Dashopanishad Bhāshyam,
- (3) Vishaya Vākyā Deepikai,

Another disciple of this Swāmi, a Grihastha Āchārya, Vāthsya Ahobalāchārya Swāmi, also wrote explanatory works relating to Śrī Bhagavad Vishayam. It was this Śrī Jnānābdhi Brahmatantra Swatantra Parakāla Swāmi, who administered the sacraments to the great Śrī Rāja Odeyar of Mysore, who secured the independent existence of his realm from the suzerainty of Vijayanagar Emperors.

The twelfth king, Śrī Mahārāja Ranadheera Kantheerava Narasimha Rāja Odeyar (1639–1660) is stated to have received the “Śrī Vaishṇava Deeksha” at the hands of Śrī Varada Vedāntha Swāmi I, the seventeenth in succession from the First Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar. Śrī Mahārāja Śrī Chikkadevarāja Odeyar (1673–1704) is stated to have commanded that the entire Ursu community should receive Chakrānkita and observe Śrī Vaishṇava ceremonials.

Sri Periya Parakala Swami

With the advent, to headship of the Mutt, of Śrī Periya Parakāla Swāmi, the twenty-first in succession from the first Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyar, an important change came over the destiny of the Mutt. Śrī Dodda Krishnarāja Odeyar of Mysore was successful in securing the removal of the headquarters of the Mutt to Srīrangapatnam (the Capital of Mysore till 1799) from Thirupathi, the reason being the perfect security which prevailed in the Mysore country, earned for it by the wisdom and power of Śrī Chikkadevarāja Odeyar (1673-1704), the illustrious ancestor of Śrī Dodda Krishṇarāja Odeyar (1714-1731). It might be that the unsettled conditions due to the Moghul-Mahratha conflicts in the Dekhan prompted Śrī Dodda Krishṇarāja Odeyar to persuade the Swāmi to remove definitely to Mysore once for all from Tirumalai Thirupathi. Swāmis appointed by the heads of the Mutt in Mysore, however, continued to remain in the Mutt at Thirupathi hill to conduct the pooja of Śrī Hayagrīva and Śrī Nigamāntha Mahā-Desika, installed there by the First Brahmatantra Swatantra and to minister to the wants of the pilgrims during their stay on the hill. (Later on this practice of appointing an Agent Swāmi was given up.) It is no exaggeration to say that Śrī Periya Brahmatantra Swatantra Parakāla Swāmi (1655-1738) occupies as important a place in Śrī Vaishṇava hierarchy as that held by Śrī Rāmānuja in his time and also by Śrī Vedāntha Desika

- (1) by the voluminous works which he wrote, and
- (2) by his wide travels over South India, expounding the Śāstras and restoring the temples and temple worship wherever decay had set in.

When he succeeded to the Āsthānam of Brahmatantra Swatantra in 1677 A.D. in his twenty-second year, he brought to the Mutt the image of Śrī Lakshmi Nārāyaṇa, his family God, with him, to be worshipped along with that of Śrī Hayagrīva. In the course of his fateful journey to Mysore, after his travels in the north, Śrī Periya Parakālar is said to have been met by the Emperor Aurangzeb, who not only revered him for the pre-eminent position he had attained by his scholarship and rank of Royal Guru of Mysore, but also bestowed some special honours upon the Swāmi, such as those which were the exclusive privilege of the Moghul Sovereigns.

Śrī Periya Parakāla Swāmi was the son of Śrī Srīnivāsa Desika, the great-grandson of the celebrated Appalāchārya Swāmi of Ghānagiri (Penukonda), who had attained fame as the author of “Sāra Prakāsika”. Śrī Srīnivāsa assumed Sannyāsa and, having ascended the Gādi of Śrī Brahmatantra Swatantra at Thirupathi, assumed the name Śrī Varada Vedāntha Yogīndra. Śrī Srīnivāsa's son, Śrī Thiruvenkatāchārya, Kulaguru of Kempe Gowda III of Magadi (p. 16, Ann. Report, 1922, Mysore Archaeological Department) assumed Sannyāsam from his father and having ascended the Gādi of the Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt at Thirupathi, assumed the name “Śrī Periya Parakāla Swāmi”.

Among the works attributed to him, the most important are the following:—

- (1) Commentaries on the Nālāyira Divya Prabandham, and on
- (2) Śrī Desika Prabandham,
- (3) Yatiprativandana Khandanam,
- (4) Ācharyāvatāra Ghattam,
- (5) Parakālāsthāna Paddhati,
- (6) Mita Prakāsikā and a host of other works.

The most reputed of all the contemporary Śrī Vaishṇava Āchāryas of the Tamil Nād of the time,

Śrī Valla Iyengar offered his obeisance to the great Swāmi composing a verse (as was the custom of the time) in which he says that it was “by the accumulation of meritorious works of his own past lives that he was destined to worship at the feet of the Swāmi, who alone had the power of destroying hell and whose constant companion was Lord Śrī Krishṇa.”

Śrī Periya Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi was succeeded in 1738 A.D. by Sri Srinivasa Parakala Swami.

He adorned the Peeṭham for fourteen years (1751).

Amongst the works he wrote were:—

- (1) Lakshmyupāya Thatvadeepam,
- (2) Nyāsa Prakāsikā,
- (3) Nyāsa Prakāsika Vivrithi,
- (4) Parakāla Mangalam,
- (5) Parakāla Vaibhava Prakāsika.

Śrī Srīnivāsa Parakāla Swāmi I, was followed in the Peeṭham by Sri Vedanta Brahmatantra Parakala Swami I.

He was born in 1712 A.D. in Holavanahalli on the banks of the Jayamangala, and by his erudition, piety and the quiet and unassuming work which he had been performing in the small place, attracted the most learned men who resorted to him to acquire further knowledge and enlightenment. Having received the fourth Āshramam in A.D. 1759, he was raised to the succession to the Holy seat and filled it with distinction for twenty years.

His disciple Sri Srinivasa II, belonging to Thirunarāyanapuram (Melkote), born in 1705 A.D., succeeded to the Gādi at a very late age in A.D. 1779 and filled that office for only a year. As his end was approaching he sent for Śrī Rāmānuja Brahmatantra Swāmi and appointed him his successor in the Peeṭham.

Sri Ramanuja Brahmatantra Parakala Swami

This great sage and Yogin was born in A.D. 1709. He was the son of Śrī Thirumalācharya, who was a very near relation of Śrī Srīnivāsa or Śrī Thiruvengadāchāriar, who became Śrī Periya Parakāla Swāmi. A native of Bagepalli, he happened to take up his abode in Kumbakonam, where he received the Chakrānkana and Mantrams from Śrī Thirumalai Krishnamāchārya, a direct disciple of Śrī Periya Parakālar. He studied all the Śāstras and Vedāntha and received Bharaṇyāsam at the feet of Śrī Srīnivāsa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi I. Once, when he happened to visit Thirupathi during Brahmotsavam, he fell ill and despairing of his life, received Sannyāsam (in his 24th year, 1733 A.D.), even as a Brahmacārin, at the hands of Śrī Brahmatantra Jeeyar who lived in the Mutt at Thirupathi conducting the daily services in the Mutt. But he recovered from his illness and continued to discharge all the duties attaching to that āśramam, teaching and spreading the sacred lore for a period of thirty-six years. When he had attained his sixtieth year, he was called upon by Śrī Abhinava Srīnivasa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi (Melkote) to ascend the Gādi of the Mutt at Srirangapatnam in A.D. 1779. He continued to reside for a considerable period in Srirangapatnam, i.e., till A.D. 1791 administering the sacraments and sacred lore to Śrī Mahārāṇi Lakshammaṇṇiyavaru, but during the trouble which ensued in the period of Tippu Sultan, culminating in the wars with the Mahrathas, the Nizam and the British, the Swāmi, at the request of Śrī Maharaṇi Lakshammaṇṇiyavaru, removed himself to Thirupathi. After the fall of Srirangapatam (1799) he returned and having crowned Śrī Mummadī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar, King of Mysore, repaired to Krishṇapuram in T. Narasipur Taluk, having chosen Śrī Krishṇamāchārya, afterwards Śrī Ghantāvatāra Parakāla Swāmi to be his successor in the āsthānadhipatyam on his demise, assuming himself the role of Virakta Sannyāsin. He lived in Krishṇapuram for another ten years till 1810. It may be added that Śrī Rāmānuja Parakāla before he left for Thirupathi, with his divine vision and strange foresight, advised Purniah, Dewan, to build the temple of Śrī Sweta Varāha at Mysore to serve as the nucleus of the future Mysore State.

Sri Brahmatantra Ghantavara Parakāla Swami

It was the beauty of character and person and piety, coupled with extraordinary scholarship of Śrī Krishṇamāchārya, which made Śrī Rāmānuja Parakāla recommend Śrī Krishṇamāchārya (of Nallur on the banks of the Pinākini in Penukonda Taluk) to Śrī Mahārāṇi Lakshammaṇṇiyavaru for the succession, when he himself retired to Krishṇapuram. He named Śrī Krishṇamāchārya as “Śrī Ghantāvatāra,” a name of Śrī Vedāntha Desika granted by God Śrīnivāsa. In every way, Śrī Krishṇamāchārya resembled Śrī Vedāntha Desika. No wonder to this day the services in the temple at Melkote are conducted in his name, i.e., “Śrī Ghantāvatāra Parakāla”. Even as Śrī Periya Parakāla Swāmi administered the Vaishṇava Deeksha and the accompanying sacraments to Śrī Doddā Krishṇarāja Wodeyar, Śrīmad Ghantāvatāra administered all the sacraments and Upadesam, etc., and communicated the knowledge of the Sāstras to Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar III. Śrī Ghantāvatāra then started on a long journey to Thirupathi, Kānchi, Śrīrangam and other important centres, famous in the history of Śrī Vaishṇavism, and, having accorded to the inhabitants of the South the privilege of darshan and worship of Śrī Lakshmī Hayagreeva and Śrī Lakshmī Nārāyaṇa, the great Swāmi returned to Mysore and Melkote. In the latter place which has been described by Vedāntha Desikar as “Yatiparibridha Hridya” (i.e., most favoured of Śrī Rāmānuja), he reorganised the worship and the services in the temple in consonance with the spirit and commands of the Ālwars and Śrī Bhagavān Rāmānuja and Śrī Vedāntha Desika including the Koṭhārotsavam. In fact, the spread of Śrī Vaishṇavism in modern Mysore country, after the fall of Seringapatam, may be said to have been entirely due to the combined services of Śrī Ghantāvatāra and Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar III, both enjoying the choicest blessings of Śrī Rāmānuja Parakāla Swāmi, the great Yogi. Brahmatantra Śrī Ghantāvara Parakāla Swāmi occupied the Peetham till A.D. 1829, when he retired to Vairāgya Sannyāsam, having handed over the succession to the Peetham, at the request of the Mahārāja, to Śrī Rāghavachārya of Nallur, a direct descendant of Śrī Thirukkurukaippirān Pillān, the successor of Śrī Bhagavad Rāmānuja in the Śrī Vaishṇava spiritual hierarchy for the propagation of Ubhaya Vedānta, and the recipient of Śrī Lakshmi Hayagreeva.

Sri Vedantha Brahmatantra Parakala Swami

Born in A.D. 1791, he acquired at a very early age the highest degree of proficiency in the Sāstras and Vedānta and, while worshipping at the feet of Śrī Ghantāvatāra, he was called upon by the latter to help him in the expounding of the Sāstras to the disciples of the Swāmi; and when it was found that the Swāmi was getting weak owing to old age, he was recommended to His Highness the Mahārāja Śrī Krishnaraja Wodeyar, to become the Rāja Guru, to officiate for Śrī Ghantāvatāra and discharge the duties attaching to the Mutt. He ascended the Peetham in A.D. 1829. He did indeed justify the selection inasmuch as he attracted by his profound and brilliant scholarship the most learned men from the south to Melkote, where he mostly resided. But he succumbed to the inevitable in A.D. 1836 after a brief illness. The aged Śrī Ghantāvatāra survived him for just a year, and he nominated as the successor to the Peetham occupied by Śrī

Vedāntha Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi—the renowned Srinivasa-Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi III.

Sri Srinivasa Brahmatantra Parakala Swami III

Born in A.D. 1790 at Tadimarri on the banks of the Pennar and named Śrī Krishṇamāchārya, this great sage very early in life acquired undisputed mastery over the Sāstras even like Śrī Vedāntha Desika, before he was twenty. He then sat at the feet of Śrī Ghantāvatāra and after studying the Vedāntha under him, he acquired the Divya-gnyanam and inspiration from Lord Hayagreeva, after the Bharaṇyāsām.

Like Śrī Vedāntha Brahmatantra, his predecessor in the holy seat, he traced his descent direct from Śrī Thirukkurukaippirān Pillān, whom he resembled in every way and he was called upon to receive Sannyāsam from Śrī Vedānta Brahmatantra in 1836 by Śrī Ghantāvatāra on account of the illness of the latter, and on his demise was raised to the holy seat of the Śrī Brahmatantra Parakāla. The Mahārāja Śrī Krishnarāja Wodeyar having by this time left all the affairs of state in the hands of the British Commission, felt free to devote himself to the studies of the Sāstras and particularly the Vedāntha, at the feet of his Guru. The learned company he found himself in gave the pious King a unique halo of spirituality. The Mahārāja's court now came to shine with the dazzling presence of some of the foremost saints and scholars of the age owing to the influence of his Guru. Mysore may be said to have become virtually the Kashmir of the age of Lalitāditya and his successors. The revival and growth of Sanskrit learning under the most peaceful surroundings in Mysore ran parallel to the perfection of the administrative system built up by the wise Commissioners. It was thus that Mysore came to be the model for all the States of the New India built up by Bentinck and Dalhousie, because of the unhindered growth of spiritual forces along with material prosperity.

H. H. Sri Krishnaraja Wodeyar III

It now pleased the Māhāraja to equip his Guru with all the necessary funds and paraphernalia to enable him to undertake a journey to the North for “Dharma Digvijayam” (Aug. 1844 A.D. to 1854 A.D.). It was as though the Mahārāja wanted to show to the people of New India what an enlightened ruler with a perfectly constitutional administrative machinery to help him could do by way of preserving and promoting the ancient Sanāthana Dharma of this holy land. Well may his example be followed by the Rulers of the States of India, after the 15th August, 1947 who may elect to stand outside the territories administered by the successors of the British, in the administration of the countries under them. If India came to have in its midst Rajarshis like the last Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar IV of Mysore and his revered grandfather, what a blessing would it be for this country with its hoary antiquity and its inexhaustible cultural and spiritual stores !

The record of the journey of Śrī Śrīnivāsa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi has been preserved in the shape of a Champu named “ Śrī Parakālaguru Vijayah ”, written in his sixteenth year by Śrī Krishnamāchārya (later, Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi) the fourth in succession to him in the Holy Seat. Among the sixty odd works which that distinguished Āchārya has presented to the world, this Champu was just the maiden production, having been dedicated to the holy feet of his Āchārya, in whose entourage throughout the journey he was privileged to be present. The Yātra of Śrī Srinivāsa Brahmatantra may be said to have been as fruitful in the history of the spread of Śrī Vaishṇava culture as that of the great Śrī Rāmānuja a thousand years before him.

Seeing that the people in the western coastal strips, divided from the Plateau by the soaring heights of the Ghats, had as yet not been much influenced by the Visishtādvaita system of Philosophy, the great Guru directed his path towards the coast and passing through the South Kannada country by way of Kodiyala, reached the seaport of Udupi, sanctified by the birth of Śriman Madhvāchārya, the great propounder of the Dwaita Philosophy. The presiding Swāmi of the Mutt there, on being acquainted with the approach of the Āchārya, came out to welcome him outside the precincts of the town accompanied with all his regal paraphernalia and by his great assemblage of sishyas and scholars. After the strange but memorable greetings exchanged by the exponents of the two great Vaishṇava systems, the Udupi Swāmi invited the Mahārājaguru of Mysore to be his own guest in his Maṭham. Śrī Srīnivāsa having gladly accepted the invitation, the Āchārya of Udupi (His Holiness Śrī Vāmanathīrtha) led on his guest in procession to his Maṭham, amidst the acclamation of the inhabitants through the streets decorated for the occasion. For the space of three days Śrī Srīnivāsa sojourned in the Mādhva Mutt, expounding the Visishtādvaita system to the gatherings there. That sacred place chosen as his residence by Lord Śrī Krishṇa now became the scene of a vast concourse of learned men and devotees from the neighbourhood, who came there to witness the glory of Śrī Hayagrīva, along with Śrī Lakshmi Nārayaṇa and Śrī Venugopāla, objects of worship in the golden Mantap of the Parakāla Mutt. The period of three days during which the Swāmi sojourned there was the happiest in the annals of the two mathams, whose heads performed common worship at the feet of Lord Śrī Krishṇa of Udupi. The costliest presents were exchanged between the two great Maṭhādhipathis in the shape of offerings to the deities worshipped in the Maṭhams. The learned gathering also received similar presents from the two Āchāryas. To the regret of both, however, the guest from Mysore took his departure from Udupi. Passing through Shikarpur on the way, Śrī Swāmi arrived at Dharwar, the heart of Karnātaka. In Dharwar, the great centre of traffic and enlightenment, lived at the time a great many learned men whose ancestors had been favoured with gifts of land and titles during the glorious days of the Peshwas of Poona. Karnātakas and Maharāshtrians had vied with each other in making that city the centre of enlightenment and opulence, reminiscent of the ancient glory of the Sātavāhanas, Chālukyas, the Rāshṭrakūṭas, the later Chālukyas, the Hoysalās, and the Vijayanagara Sovereigns. Amongst the large body of the learned men inhabiting Dharwar at the time, the most renowned was Śrī Gaṇapathi Sāstri who, along with a profound knowledge of all other Darśanas, had earned special reputation as the leading exponent of the Vaiseshika system of Śrī Kanāda. Accompanied by a large concourse of Sishyas and leading scholars of various other schools, Gaṇapathi Sāstri made his visit to the Swāmi and engaged him in a friendly sāstraic discussion. A great disputation ensued between him and the Āchārya in the Sāstras, according to ancient custom. Profoundly enlightened by the Swāmi's expounding of the Visishtādvaita, Gaṇapathi Sāstri performed obeisance to him along with his own vast congregation of disciples. While the Swāmi dwelt in Dharwar, immensely to the joy of the inhabitants, there came a Śrī Vaishṇava gentleman of repute from Belgaum, named Śrī Thimmappaiengar, alike famous for his learning and wealth. Having worshipped at the feet of the Swāmi, the gentleman invited Śrī Swāmigal to Belgaum to spend the Chāturmāsyam days there as his guest. The Āchārya accepted the invitation and repaired to Belgaum, followed by a large host of learned men, representatives of all systems of philosophy, from Mysore, Udupi and Dharwar. The long sojourn in Belgaum of the Swāmijee afforded the opportunity for the scholars about the country to visit the Swāmijee and pay their homage. Daily Vidwat Sabhās had become the characteristic feature of the period of the stay of the Swāmi in Belgaum. Thimmappiengar, also known as Sreenivāsāchārya, had the privilege of receiving the Nyāsavidya from His Holiness. In the meantime, the news of the Āchārya's proposed visit to the north had preceded him and the Śri Sankarāchārya of the holy peetham of Sankeshwar, who had been described as "the sun for the lotus of Sankara Siddhānta", sent the vidwans of his āsthānam with the invitation to the Swāmi to visit Sankeshwar and accept his hospitality in his Maṭham. Śrī Swāmi readily agreed and, led by the envoys from Sankeshwar, entered the holy city amidst the acclamations of the people and was warmly welcomed by Śrī Sankarāchārya to his Maṭham. The two Swāmis representing the two systems of philosophy, living together, engaged in daily disquisitions, presented a unique spectacle to the gathering there. Appraised of the tidings of the Mysore Mahārāja-guru's triumphant Dharma Digvijayam, the Mahārāja of Kolhapur now requested the Swāmi to extend to him and to his State the privilege of His Holiness's visit. The invitation was of course accepted, and the Swāmi received there the usual Royal welcome and the homage of many of the chiefs of the Southern Mahratta States, assembled there for the purpose of obtaining the darśan of the renowned sage. There the Swāmi had the joy and privilege of worshipping Śrī Mahālakshmi, the presiding deity of Maharashtra. The Ruler of Sāngli was then accorded the privilege of worshipping Śrī Hayagrīva in his Palace. There, at Sāngli, had arrived from Satāra a scholar of high repute, Śrī Nārāyaṇa by name, versed in the Kaṇāda lore. The usual disputation regarding the respective Sāstras took place, to the interest and joy of the great gathering. Having received the blessings of the Āchārya, the rulers assembled made the costliest presents to Lord Hayagrīva amongst which was a fine elephant mounted with a silver mantap (howdah). Before the Swāmi took leave of the Ruler of Sāngli, Śrī Nārāyaṇa had carried the fame of the Āchārya to the Raja of Satāra, his patron. That Chief now invited him to his famous capital. While the Swāmi was at Satāra, there arrived the greatest Vyākaraṇa scholar named Śrī Bhāskara accompanied by an army of equally famous scholars, poets and philosophers, versed in the various sāstras. Śrī Bhāskara was the Rājā-guru of Satāra. The distinguished meetings held there were productive of the greatest advantage to everyone present during those memorable days. Amongst the presents made to Śrī Hayagrīva by the Ruler of Satāra were two famous white horses. Meanwhile there had arrived too, at Satāra, the famous capital of Śrī Chatrapati Shahoo, Srī Krishṇa Bhatta from Poona, the capital of the Shrimants, the Peshwas. He had been sent by Śrī Mohana Sāstri, the most learned and the most renowned exponent of all the sāstras, recognised, however, by all India as the particular advocate of the Advaita philosophy. After the usual disputations Śrī Swāmijee was invited by Śrī Krishṇa Bhatta to Poona, to meet the vast concourse of Pandits, hailing from the remotest regions of India, under the headship of the great Śrī Mohana Sāstri. Under the accomplished Peshwa Bajeerao II, Poona had been turned into a 'Saraswathi Peetham' as it were. And Śrī Mohana Sāstri might be said to have been the recognised guardian of the Peetham. Driven from their homes by the disastrous revolutions which had overwhelmed the kingdoms and the Empires of India to the north of the Krishṇa, due to the wars raging over two centuries, the most reputed scholars had resorted to Poona, which had been made the sanctuary for what remained of Hindu culture by the great Shahoo and the Peshwas. It was verily the last culture centre of the South, a reminiscence of Takshasila, Nalanda, Nuddia and Kāshi of the north.

The whole city turned up to have darśan of the great Āchārya of the south—the reputed Mahārājaguru of Mysore. Amidst the tumultuous welcome in which joined all classes of men and women, Śrī Swāmijee made a triumphal entry into Poona. In the midst of the vast gathering was Śrī Mohan Sāstri, who was amongst the first to welcome the Swāmi as he entered the city. When the Sāstri heard the words "UBHAYA VEDANTHACHARYA" amongst the titles, sounded by the followers of the Swāmi, the Sāstri turned to the Swāmi and with a smile asked which the two Vedānthas referred to were. He himself knew of three! He received the necessary explanations that the two Vedānthas were the two alternative paths of salvation, indicated in the Vedic Upanishads as well as in the Drāvidopanishads in Tamil, the latter having been recognised universally as the South Indian counterparts of the Vedas from the age of Agasthya (as complete and sacred as Vedic literature, known as the northern Aryan path was)—having been revealed to the Ālwars. Thus, the two great teachers in happy conversation passed through the decorated streets of Poona, receiving the homage of every one till the Swāmi reached the home, “Thulasīvanam” of Śrī Raghavārya’s son Śrī Nrisimhārya which had been prepared for the residence of the Swāmi. Poona was en fete for the day. Mohan Sāstri and others betook themselves to their homes, taking leave of the Swāmi for the day. The next morning, after the usual services and worship in the Mutt at (Thulasīvanam) as the Āchārya was engaged in expounding the Sāstras to Śrī Narasimhāchārya, Śrī Lakshmīnrisimhāchārya, Śrī Ananthāchārya and other disciples, there appeared before the assemblage of disciples, a veritable army of the foremost Indian scholars of the age, led by Śrī Mohan Sāstri, among the former being Śrī Bhikkhusāstri, Triyambakasāstri, Gopālāchārya, Krishṇa Bhatta mentioned above, Ganesha Sūri, Ramachandra

Shāstri, Dābāchārya, Narāyaṇasāstri, Mahadevasāstri, Vishṇusāstri, Govindasāstri, Dhondoo Pandit, Bālasāstri and several others of repute, expert representatives of the various Darśanas. The visitors were received with a warm sign of welcome by the Āchārya seated in his Āsanam. Having made their obeisance, the assemblage of visitors was asked to be seated. After a spell of deep silence to which the assemblage lapsed for a while, Śrī Mohana Sāstri was the first to speak. With a respectful but challenging attitude the great scholar started a disputation with the question as to how it was that the Āchārya elected to assume the “Tridanda” Sannyāsam forbidden as it was in the Kali age by most of the Dharmasāstras like “NIRNAYA SINDHU”. After a long discussion over this and other allied subjects, like the wearing of Sikha, Yagnopavītha, Kāṭīsūtra, etc., having received convincing sāstraic explanations, the great Sāstri, free from passion and prejudice, now rose from his place and begging forgiveness for his non-performance of the Sāshṭāngapraṇāmam at the feet of the Swāmi up to the moment, along with his disciples performed the Dandavathprāṇāmam a dozen times, —a token of repentance and prayer for forgiveness. In the afternoon, too, they repeated their visit; and disputation on other topics continued till evening when the assembly broke up for the day. The following morning, Śrī Mohan Sāstri and others started a discussion on the propriety of the “Taptachakrāṅkaṇam”, “Oordhvapundradhāraṇam” and such allied subjects relating to the outward practices of the Śrī Vaishṇava cult, with the same result as on the previous day. The audience returned to their abodes fully convinced by the Āchārya's arguments in favour of these. In this manner, each day was devoted to a controversy relating to the various systems, expounded by everyone of the party headed by the celebrated Sāstri. In the end, at the conclusion of the Sabha, lasting over a month Śrī Mohan Sāstri stood up and acknowledged that he was discomfitted—sāstraically,—of course, on all counts and declared that the Swāmi, by having the best of all the disputations, might claim to have won over all the Sāstris of India, those of Kāshi, Mithila, Gauda, Anga, Vanga, Gujara and so forth.

As a sign of the recognition by them of the spiritual supremacy established over them, Śrī Krishṇa Bhatta, Śrī Mohan Sāstri and many other Sāstris performed Pādapūja to the Swāmi, begged for and got the holy Shreepādathīrtham of the Great Āchārya and expressed their gratefulness. “Blessed, indeed, is the great sovereign who has the fortune of having such an Āchārya for his Guru” said they. Day after day, the Swāmi was then taken to their homes by the Pandits for worship of Śri Hayagrīva and Pādapūja and Shreepādathīrtham for their families also.

On one of these days, Śrī Mohan Sāstri, as the leader of the Pandits, stood up in the assembly and read aloud a document in which he stated that he and his followers were indeed overcome thoroughly in the sāstraic battles by the great Āchārya. Copies of this signed by them, were also despatched to the great Sabhas of the learned men in the north. Śrī Śrīnivasa Brahmatantra Parakāla now thought of proceeding on a tour to the sacred places of the north in the company of his followers to secure for them the advantage of a Thīrthayātra. Taking leave of Śrī Nrissimhachārya, Mohan Sāstri and all others, Śrī Swāmi left Poona to the north. By quick marches, Śrī Swāmi crossed the Krishṇa and reached Nāsik on the Godāvari. Attracted by the association of the place with the memory of Śri Rāmachandra, the Swāmi proposed to spend the Chāturmāsam days there.

This provided an opportunity for the distinguished scholars of the north to repair to the Swāmi's abode and the whole period was spent there with daily sabhas and lectures and Upadeśams. Once, however, a holy Muslim Peer visiting the Swāmi,—by permission, engaged in prolonged discussion with him, and was ultimately satisfied that the teachings of Islām were in no way contradictory to the spirit of Sanāthana Dharma; and he joyfully performed profound obeisance to the Swāmi. By this time, Mahārāja Sree Krishṇarāja Wodeyar, having arranged to celebrate SHASTIPURTHI SANTI (A.D. 1854–60 years from his birth A.D. 1794) according to the Sāstra, had despatched a letter begging the Swāmi for his return immediately to Mysore to grant him the privilege of his presence on the occasion. Unless he had performed the Pādapūja to the Guru and received his blessings, it would not be appropriate for him to go through the necessary ceremonials, he felt. Moved by the importunity of his foremost Royal disciple, the Swāmi made up his mind to return to Mysore and on the day following the completion of Chāturmāsya, exactly a fortnight before the Dasara, he left Nāsik, to the profound sorrow of all who had the privilege of enjoying his Darśan and listening to his learned lectures and Upadeśams for over ten months.

In the meantime, the Rāja of Akkalkot, having heard of the return journey of the Swāmi towards Mysore, sent messengers to him with the invitation to grace his capital with his presence in the course of his journeys. The Swāmi having accorded his assent, the Rāja came out of his capital and led on the Āchārya in procession to his Palace. There, at Akkalkot, the Rāja with his following and his citizens had the privilege of Darśan and performance of Pūjas of the Swāmi for the space of a week. Among the presents that the Rāja offered to Śrī Hayagreeva was a famous elephant.

By forced marches the Āchārya arrived at Melkote. Straight away he proceeded to the temple of Śrī Nārāyaṇa after receiving the temple honours at the outskirts. After worshipping there he entered his own Mutt on the ‘Kalyāṇi’ Thīrtham. The next morning, after finishing the worship at the Mutt, the Swāmi proceeded up the Hill of Śrī Yoga Nrīsimha and after the pūja returned to the Mutt. By that time messengers had arrived from Mahārāja Śrī Krishnaraja Wodeyar bearing the letter conveying the Royal disciple's feelings of happiness at the return of his Guru to his own country after the triumphal journey to the north and begging his immediate return to the capital. The Guru started forthwith. On the way, he halted at Srīrangapatnam for a day. In the afternoon a special messenger named Śrī Mukhāmi Narasimhāchārya, despatched by the Mahārāja, brought the tidings in advance that Śrīmān Mahārāja would go over the next day in person to receive his Guru in Srīrangapatnam and escort him to the capital himself the next morning. The Swāmi having paid his visit to Śrī Ranganātha Temple for worship, returned to the Mutt, and had scarcely finished performing the worship at noon, when the Maharāja Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar arrived in State to pay homage to his Guru, after a long separation. His joy when he beheld him can better be imagined than described. After getting the Darśan of Śrī Hayagrīva, the Royal Disciple fell at the feet of the great Āchārya and bathed them with tears of joy.

After a brief but moving and happy conversation, the Mahārāja led his Āchārya to a new golden palanquin which he had brought in his train. The procession to the capital, led by the Royal Disciple in person, who alternately drove in his State Carriage, walked on foot some yards, again riding on horseback, reached the capital which had been prepared for the reception. Amidst the acclamations of the people, the Guru and the Royal Sishya slowly passed through the streets. It was indeed like the entrance to Ayodhya of Śrī Rāmachandra, after his return from exile, led by Bharata. After the reception in the Palace and the usual visits to the temples, the Swāmi returned to the Mutt, in Śrī Sveta Varāha-swāmi Temple. From then, onwards, Śrī Mahārāja Krishnarāja Wodeyar, sitting at the feet of his Guru, started a systematic study of Śrī Bhagavad Gīta, the Bhāshyas and Śrī Bhagavadvishayam. Alternately residing on the banks of the Kapila, the Cauvery, and in Mysore, Śrī Swāmi lived up till A.D. 1861, a dazzling ornament to the grand assemblage at the Royal court of Mysore of the foremost Pandits and seers of the age. He conferred the Sannyāsa Āśram on Śrī Srinivasa Desikendra at the request of the Mahārāja, before he left the world.

Sri Srinivasa Desikendra Brahmatantra Parakala Swami

Born in 1802 A.D., receiving his Chakrānkaṇam and Sreemad Bhāshyam from Śrī Brahmatantra Ghantāvatara Parakāla, Bharaṇyāsam from Śrī Vedāntha and Thatvārtha and Mokshāsramam from Śrī Srinivasa Brahmatantra Swatantra, Śrī Srinivāsa Desikendra, a native of Pālyā in the Goribidanur taluk, had early acquired the height of proficiency in “Veda, Vedāngas, Purvottara Mimāmsas and Śrī Bhagavadvishaya and all the Sāstras”, so that he came to be described as a “second sun in Brahmavarchas”. Having ascended the Peetham (1861) and having taught the Ubhaya Vedāntha to a host of scholars, the Swāmi started on “Dharma-digvijayam tour”. Proceeding to the east and south

the Swāmi visited the holy shrines at Thirumalai, Śrī Kānchi and Srīrangam, etc. Everywhere he distinguished himself in the friendly disputations with the leading scholars of the age versed in the Vishistādvaita system. Śrī Lakshmi Amba, consort of the Rāja of Ātmakur, in Hyderabad Kingdom, received Chakrāṅkaṇa, Bharāṇyāsam and Manthropadesam from him. He also bestowed the gift of Prapatti on Mahārāja Śrī Krishṇaīāja Wodeyar at the closing days of his glorious and highly spiritualised life. Fortunate indeed was that great Ruler, who enjoyed the spiritual blessings of five great Āchāryas, Śrī Rāmānuja, Śrī Ghantāvatāra, Śrī Vedāntha, Śrī Srīnivasa and Śrī Srīnivāsa Desikendra Parakālas in his long rule—even like Śrī Rāmānujachārya and Śrī Periya Parakāla. The history of Śrī Srīnivāsa Desikendra's journey to the south and north has been preserved in the Champu “Sreemad Uttara Parakāla Guru Vijaya” by Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi.

Sri Ranganatha Brahmatantra Parakala Swami

On the demise of Śrī Srīnivasa Desikendra in A.D. 1873, the succession to the Brahmatantra Parakāla Peetham passed on to Śrī Ranganātha. Born at Vāyalpad on the banks of the Bāhuda (Cuddapah District) in the famous family of Śrī Vādhūla, in A.D. 1812, Śrī Ranganātha, the son of Śrī Nrisimhāchārya, even at a very early age, developed such grasp of Vedas and Vedāngas by intuition that he came to be described as “Brihaspati Samoh buddhya" and merited the title of "Sarvatantra Swatantra" like Śrī Vedāntha Desika. He addressed himself to the task undertaken by Śrī Srīnivāsa Brahmatantra from where he had left at Nāsik, and while yet a young grīhastha, travelled wide over Northern India engaged in propagating Śrī Vaishṇava Siddhānta and seizing every occasion to be present at the great Sabhas at Jaipur, Kāshi, Darbhanga, etc., where the most distinguished scholars of the days assembled and discussed. Having established his reputation as the unchallenged re-establisher of the Visishtādvaita philosophy in the north, particularly in the Sabha assembled at sacred Kāshi for the purpose, Śrī Ranganātha settled down in Rewa State at the earnest invitation of Śrī Mahārāja Raghurāj Singh Bahadur, to whom he became the specially favourite Āchārya. He was familiarly known as Rewa Rangāchārya Svāmi in the North. Śrī Govardhan Rangāchārya who had carried the banner of Śrī Bhagavan Rāmānuja and the Ālwārs into North-Western India to Madhura and Brindāvan, showed the highest honours to him.

Succeeding to the holy seat of Śrī Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt, he became the central figure amongst the most distinguished scholars of the age, representatives of all the Sāstras and Darśanas; and every evening a great Sabha in Mysore gathered round him and received his help in the maintenance and unhindered growth of the knowledge of ancient Sāstras. The great "Sarasvatī Prasāda Pāthasāla" (now "The Mahārāja's Sanskrit College") at Mysore derived its strength and usefulness as the result of the Sabhas held in the Mutt. The great Swāmi became a Vikramāditya, as it were, as the head of the Sabha of the Mutt, pandits, vying with each other, in their endeavours to win the Swāmi's approval for any particular Siddhānta which they might seek to expound. Sreeman Mahārāja Śrī Chāmarājendra Wodeyar received Chakrānkaṇam and other accompaniments of Vaishṇava deeksha from this Swāmi (1884). The Gādi of Śrī Brahmatantra Parakāla was adorned by him for the space of twelve years till A.D. 1885.

Sri C. Rangacharlu, C.I.E.
Dewan of Mysore

In A.D. 1877, the most terrible famine swept over South India, affecting Mysore seriously; and at least the inhabitants of the capital and the suburban villages round Mysore were saved from starvation by the gift of the Mutt under the orders of the Swāmi. This, however, involved the Mutt in a great financial crisis. It was, however, tided over with great difficulty by his successor on the Śrī Hayagrīva Peetham in A.D. 1885, Śri Krishna Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi, the greatest Poet Āchāryaswāmi after Śrī Vedāntha Desikar.

Sri Krishna Brahmatantra Parakala Swami

The study of “Śrī Parakāla Guru Vijayam” composed in his sixteenth year and dedicated to the lotus feet of Śrī Śrinivāsa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi and which won for him even so early the title of “Kavisārvabhauma” itself is sufficient to enable one to regard him as the chosen of Śrī

Lord Hayagrīva. Born in A.D. 1839 in Āmidela on the banks of the Pinākini as the second son of Śrī Thāthāchārya, a scion of the renowned Ghanagiri (Penukonda) Appalāchārya, the author of “Sāraprakāsika”, a resident of Hosadurga, he was named Krishṇa after Śrī Srinivāsa Brahmatantra Parakāla (whose name it was as a Grihastha) who had foretold of his birth as he once blessed the Swāmi's father. Before he was sixteen he had acquired such proficiency in Vyākaraṇa, Sāhitya, Alankāra and allied Sāstras that he was able to produce the “Parakāla Guru Vijaya,” which won for him the title of “Kavi-Sārvabhauma”. After receiving Panchasamskāram from Śrī Srinivāsa Brahmatantra, he was blessed with the gift of Śrī Hayagrīva Mantram from the great Swāmi on the banks of the Kapila when he was just sixteen. Having been blessed with the teaching of Śrī Bhāshya and other Vedāntha Granthas by that illustrious Āchārya, he was enjoined to assume the Grihastha Āśram and proceed to the Samasthānam of Ānegundi at the invitation of the Ruler Śrī Thirumalarāya, offered through Śrī Srinivāsa Brahmatantra Swāmi. There, at the former's request, he composed “Srīrangarāja Vilāsam” as a tribute to the Ruler's family God Śrī Ranganātha. From there he proceeded to Gadwal Samasthānam at the invitation of Śrī Rāmabhoopāla, the Raja, and at his request wrote the Chāmpu “Kārthikothsava Deepika” as a tribute to Srī Kesava Swāmi, the Raja's family God. The Rāja of Ātmakur, Mukkara Śrī Seethārāma Bhoopāla, invited Śrī Krishṇamāchārya Kavisārvabhauma to his Samasthānam and begged him to compose a work to be dedicated to Śrī Śrīnivasa, his family God. The result was the Champu of “Śrī Śrīnivāsa Vilāsam”. This visit to Ātmakur was followed by the visit to Vanaparthy Samasthānam, whose Rāja Śrī Rāmeshwara Rao had several works composed by the poet among which was “Chapeṭāhati Stuti”. At the Rāṇi Śrī Sankarāmba’s special request, the poet composed in nine hours on the same day at a stretch “Uttara Ranga Mahātmyam” and “Śrī Rāmeshwara Vijayam”. Continuing his journey to Jataprole Kolhapur, he was received in State by the Rāja Śrī Venkatanātha Rao; and implored by him, he produced in one night “Śrī Nrisimha Vilāsam” and in another night “Madana Gopāla Māhātmyam”. Finally, at the request of the Rāja of Vanaparthy, he settled down at the place and was engaged in the teachings of Darśanams to the large armies of scholars who resorted thither.

Visiting Mysore, once, Śrī Krishṇamāchārya received Bharanyāsa at the feet of Śrinivāsa Desikendra Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi, who was then at Srīrangapatnam. During his stay there, he composed the “Uttara Parakāla Digvijayam,” a Champoo constituting the history of Śrī Desikendra’s Dharma Digvijayam” in the South at Thirupathi, Śrī Kānchi, Thiruvallur, Srīrangam and other sacred places; as also the “Vedapādas-tava” and dedicated both the works to Śrī Swāmi. He was then blessed by the Swāmi who was pleased to foretell that Śrī Krishṇamāchārya would one day certainly grace the Holy Peetham of Śrī Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt.

Returning to Vanaparthy, the Āchārya expounded to the Rāṇi, Sreemad Rāmāyaṇa, Sreemad Māhābhāratha, Śrī Vishṇu Purāṇam and Sreemad Bhāgavatham. While he was engaged in giving lectures on the last he came to the possession of a commentary on it, written by Śrī Veerarāghava Swāmi named “Munibhāvaprakāsika”, and after much industry and careful research got a copy made of it and had it published at the request of the Rāṇi.

By this time, Śrī Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi had been feeling old and sent for Śrī Krishṇamāchārya at Vanaparthy. On his arrival at Srīrangapatnam, the Āchārya offered his homage to the Swāmi along with the Granthas he had composed as humble dedications to Śrī Swāmi. He dwelt there a considerable time, engaged in the study of Darsanas, and when he proposed to take leave of him, Śrī Ranganātha Brahmatantra was pleased to say that he would prove to be his own worthy successor to the Holy Peetham after him and having prepared the Āchārya for the same by the gift of the necessary mantrams and other Upadeśams, he permitted him to return to Vanaparthy, at the same time enjoining on him to be prepared to go over to Mysore when the call would go forth to him from the Mahārāja. Accordingly, blessed by three predecessors of his, Śrī Krishṇamāchārya ascended the Peetham on the demise of Śrī Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakāla

It has been pointed out that owing to the help rendered to the famine-stricken citizens of Mysore during 1877, the Mutt had to incur an inordinately heavy debt. The first act of His Holiness Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra on ascending the Gādi was the arrangement made by carefully planned economy to redeem the debt by a process of instalments. With the ungrudging co-operation of His Highness the Mahārāja Śrī Chāmarājendra Wodeyar and Sir K. Seshadri Iyer, the Dewan, the Swāmi was able to put the finances of the institution on a stable footing. The occasion of the final redemption of the debt by His Highness the Mahārāja Śrī Krishṇarājendra Wodeyar IV (25-6-1903) was marked by the visit of the Mahārāja to the Swāmi and the holding of the first of the series of the Vajra Dolotsavam inaugurated in His Highness's presence. The feast has since become an annual function like the Vairamudi Utsavam at Melkote, inaugurated by Śrī Rāmānuja. The Utsavam is held on the occasion of the reigning King's Birthday. The completion of the printing of the Śrī Bhāgavatha commentary by Śrī Veerarāghava was the next task accomplished by Śrī Swāmi with the help of the Rāṇi of Vanaparthy Samasthānam in 1893.

Śrī Seetha Vilāsa Devājammanni Mahārāṇiyavaru, consort of Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar III, received

Bharaṇyāsam at the feet of Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi. In 1899 (Vikāri, Jyeshta) on the occasion of Śrī Swāmi's completing his 60th year, the Queen Mother Mahā Māthrisri Śrī Mahārāṇi Vāṇivilāsa Sannidhāna and Śrī Krishṇarājendra Wodeyar IV invited Śrī Swāmi to the Palace and had the Śrī Hayagrīva Āradhanam specially performed there. Śrī Mahārāṇi Vāṇivilāsa Sannidhāna, Śrī Mahārāja Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar IV and the former's brother Śrī Sirdar Kāntarāj Urs (later, Dewan) received the Chakrānkaṇam and accompanying Mantropadeśam at the sacred hands of Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra Parakāla.

At the request of Śrī Swāmi, His Highness the Mahārāja Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar and Her Highness Śrī Mahārāṇi Vāṇivilāsa, the Queen Mother, had the Old Mutt in the capital rebuilt to house the Lord Śrī Hayagrīva and Śrī Lakshmī Narāyaṇa.

In response to the prayers of its inhabitants, His Holiness undertook a journey to Kulaganam near Nanjangud and blessed hundreds of Hale-karnaṭaka Brahmaṇas with Chakrānkaṇam, etc.

Among the sixty-seven odd works written by the Swāmijee during the fifty-seven years, beginning from the sixteenth, are Champoos like “Śrī Parakāla Guru Vijaya,” Nātakas like “Subhadrā Pariṇaya,” Sthothrams like “Prapanna Sowbhāgya Stuti,” Dharma Sāstras like “Saraswathī Mūlādhanam”, Commentaries like “Lakshmī Sahasra Prakāsika” and “Hamsasandesa Rasāswādini” and the great work on Rhetoric, “Alankāra Maṇihāra ” dedicated to Śrī Venkatesha, Lord of Thirupathi. Thus, having graced the Āsthānam of Lord Śrī Hayagrīva for a long and glorious period of twenty-seven years, the Great Āchārya proved to be a second Vedāntha Desika appearing on the earth in the modern world. In order that the Āsthānādhipatyam of the Mutt might continue unimpaired during the rapidly deteriorating period the world is passing through with its modernness, Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra, just before his end had installed on the Peetham, with the approval of Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar IV, Śrī Purāṇam Narasimha Āchārya Swāmi of Gadwal, the head of the assemblage of Pandits of that Samasthānam, which was a miniature Kashmir of modern times attracting the most profound scholars and artists of repute. While doing so, the Great Swāmi—with the strange foresight characteristic of him, also advised His Highness that his successor now named “ Śrī Vāgīsha Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi ” should in his turn be succeeded by Śrī Rangāchārya of Ātmakur, Śrīmad-Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi, the present occupant of the Peetham.

Sri Vagisha Brahmatantra Parakala Swami

Śrī Vāgheesha Brahmatantra Parakāla, a descendant of a renowned family of holy pandits, had, as the hereditary head of the Vidwat Sabha of Gadwal Samasthānam, early attracted the attention of Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra during the days when the latter was at Vanaparthy. Added to his proficiency in Vyākaraṇa, which had earned for him fame as a second Pāṇini, this Āchārya was equally well versed in all the Darsanas and by his versatility and varied talents was able to exercise a decisive voice in the concourse of Pandits anywhere. In addition to this, he possessed Yogic powers known only to a few of his acquaintances like Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra. During the short period of twelve years (Virodhikrit to Krodhana) Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar made three public visits to the Mutt in all formality. The first was on the occasion of the Annual Vidwat Sabha of Chāturmāsyā and the last on the occasion of the installation of the image of Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra in the Brindāvan. On the last occasion, His Highness the Mahārāja was accompanied by His Highness the Yuvarāja Śrī Kanteerava Narasimharāja Wodeyar. But the numerous private visits of His Highness were more fruitful inasmuch as they were long and had for their chief purpose the brief but close and authoritative study by His Highness of the fundamental tenets of the Visishtādwaita system of philosophy direct from his Āchārya. At the earnest request of Her Highness, Śrī Mahāraṇi Vāṇivilāsa, His Holiness more than once visited the Palace and gave Upadeśams to all the members of the Royal Family in regard to Bharaṇyāsam, Thirumanthrārtham, etc.

Supreme simplicity, characteristic of this great Swāmi, like Mahātma Gandhi, attracted one and all to him. It may be mentioned that some Advaitic scholars even received Bharaṇyāsam from the Swāmi. As an example of the Swāmi's sympathetic nature may be mentioned the fact that when His Holiness Śrī Chandrasekhara Bhārathi Swāmi of Sringeri was reported to be seriously suffering from some mental derangement, Śrī Vāgeesa successfully prayed to Śrī Hayagrīva for the former's quick recovery and when he visited Mysore in the course of his "Dharma Digvijayam" Śrī Vageesa Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi sent a message of congratulations to the head of the Sringeri Jagadguru Peetham through his accredited agent. The memory of this Great Āchārya is gratefully cherished by his numerous disciples—and non-Sishyas, too, who had the privilege of studying the Sāstras directly sitting at his blessed feet.

A remarkable attestation of the Swāmi's Yogic power was the fact that quite recently, when the grave of the Swāmi was opened for the removal of the earth after nearly twenty years with a view to filling it up afresh for the construction of the monument (Brindāvan) over it, the Swāmi's body, Yogic pose, and all the articles buried with it were found intact, just as they were, at the time of the internment. Lest his Samādhi should be disturbed, no time was lost in covering up the receptacle and erecting the Mantapam over it. Such a Yогin was the great occupant of the Śrī Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt Peetham from 1912 to 1925. The funeral of this Swāmi was attended by all Government Officers and the Members of the Representative Assembly, which was in session at the time, and which was suspended as soon as the demise of the Swāmi was announced.

In accordance with the wish expressed during his life-time by His Holiness Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra to His Highness Śrī Krishṇarāja Wodeyar and Śrī Mahārāṇi Vāṇivilāsa, the latter, much against the Āchārya's own wishes, raised Śrī Rangāchārya Swāmi to the position of the Rāja Guru of Mysore on 15th October 1925 as "Śrī Lakshmi Hayagrīva Divya Pāduka Sevaka "

Sreemad Abhinava Sri Ranganatha Brahmatantra Parakala Swami.

Born in Thāraṇa-Pārthiva (1884) as the result of prayers to Śrī Lakshmī Nrisimha and Śrī Rāmachandra, Śrī Rangācharya, a scion of the family of Haritha to which Śrī Rāmānuja belonged, early moved out to Mysore from his place of birth at the age of seventeen prompted by his unquenchable thirst for the divine knowledge to crown his knowledge of the Sāstras which he had already attained at a very early age. Śrī Krishṇa Brahmatantra discerned this legitimate greed for gnyānam, and bestowed on him Śrī Chakrānkaṇam and Śrī Bhashyārtham and consigned him to the care of Śrī Panditaratnam Kastūri Rangāchārya Swāmi, who had already won for himself as great a name in India as his renowned teacher Śrī Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakāla. Along with the study of the Darśanams, Nyāya, Sāhitya, Mīmāmsa, Vaiseshika and Visishtādwaita Vedāntha, Śrī Rangāchārya conducted his regular studies of Sāhitya, Alankāra, Vyākaraṇa, etc., under the respective teachers in the Mahārāja's Sanskrit College. But even more than his profound and complete scholarship, it was the Swāmi's resolute performance of every one of his duties as a Grihastha as an "Ahitāgni", as a "Shatkarma Niratha", as a "Shaḍangadikshita", as a "Shaḍdarshani Paradrashta", which marked him out for the exalted position he is now occupying. Throughout his Grihastha Āsrama, the sacred fire ever burnt under his roof even as in the Parnakutīram of the rishis of ancient times. On one occasion in Pushya-Makara, during a solar eclipse, in the early hours of the morning, when there was an unparalleled and terrible downpour accompanied by biting chill, amidst the thousands who had gathered on the banks of the Cauvery, in Gautama Kshetram, there was this solitary Grihastha, present with his Grihīnī and the sacred fire in the pot, protecting it with all his resources as a fond mother does her baby threatened by a ruffian for its jewels. Such has ever been the unwavering, unflinching, appalling earnestness and devotion and attachment of this Āchārya to the practice of Ārya Dharma. Even in these degenerate days, that there should be such living monuments of the ancient culture augurs well for the future on which we can safely rely. But unostentatious service (Kainkaryam) and "Thyāga" have ever been his watchwords all these fifty years.

Having been called upon to fill the position of Trustee and guardian of Śrī Hayagrīva Samasthānam, he has naturally been devoting all his energies, all his physical and mental resources to Seva with unflinching resolve like Śrī Varadrāmānuja Swāmi of Srīrangam and Śrī Kanchi, — from whom as Śrī Rangāchārya, the Grihastha, he received the “Bharaṇyāsam”,—Śrīmad Abhinava Ranganātha has won renown all over South India, as “Vairāgya Āchārya Vardhi”, in addition to his being regarded as a “Gnynānāmburāshi” like Śrī Periya Parakāla Swāmi whose seat he has been occupying. Like him, too, he is engaged in the “Jeernod-dhāraṇam” of the Divya Desams associated with the name of Śrī Nigamānthāchārya, and also acquiring centres from where the teachings of Śrī Rāmānuja may be carried forward, in Thirupathi, in distant Rewah, Allahabad, Śrī Kānchi, Satyāgālam, Śrī Ālwār Thirunagari, Śrī Thiru-vaheendrapuram, etc. To facilitate the propaganda of Śrī Vedāntha Desikar, he himself has started a “Vedāntha Vihāra Sabha” under the auspices of which annual examinations are conducted—on the model of modern universities, and ancient sadas, prizes awarded and extension lectures delivered in the Mutt. For all this, to supplement the ordinary resources of the Mutt, voluntary endowments are being made and contributions sent from distant places by men and women donors, some of them preferring to remain anonymous. Although himself reluctant to stay in cities, the renowned Swāmijee has been obliged to stay in this capital to which resort men and women of all conditions, all Jignyāsus and Bhaktas, both the learned and the ignorant. The frequent Sabhas composed of all Pandits and schools of learning and philosophy are naturally easier in a capital city like Mysore, combining the orthodox with the more modern. Reprinting revised publications, and printing new works such as "Śrī Hayagrīva Pancharātram," further commentaries on "Nyāya Siddhānjanam, Siddhitrayam, Śrī Bhagavad Vishayam with the Vyākhyānam", hitherto unpublished, all the granthas of Śrī Rāmānuja and Śrī Nigamāntha Desika—all these are being accomplished by the great Swāmi whose industry and zeal know no bounds. Under the presidency of this Great Swāmi, the Mutt has become a rallying centre for all that is great and cherishable in the ancient lore of this land.

Removal of some of the disabilities of the unfortunate—"Tirukkulattars", "Harijans", "Scheduled Classes", etc., has also received the attention of this Great Sage as was exemplified when that stolid champion of Hinduism, the late Śrī Pandit Madan Mohan Mālaviya, approached the Swāmi on one occasion during his visit to Mysore for the purpose. Then, a most representative Vidwat Sabha was held in the Mutt, also attended by personages like Sir Mirza Ismail. After a thorough discussion, for two days in succession, it was agreed that Mantra Deeksha was allowed by the Sāstras for the Harijans with some reservations and Mālaviyaji went away satisfied with the verdict of the Swāmijee. On another occasion (December 1927), when an earnest seeker of truth from Marburg, a European gentleman, Rudolf Otto, "generally acknowledged as one of the very first theologians of Germany", sought interview with the Swāmi, the latter readily accorded him the interview and the worker went away supremely enlightened and acknowledged his obligation to the Swāmi in a book "India's Religion of Grace and Christianity Compared and Contrasted" (1930) which he subsequently published. He was accompanied by Birger Forrel, Rector of the Parish-Tillinge, Sweden, Enköping.

His Highness Śrī Mahārāja Mārtānda Singhjee of Rewah visted the Mutt, and paid his obeisance to the Swāmi and received His blessings before he ascended the Gādi of his ancestors. It is no exaggeration to say that His Holiness Śrīmad Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakāla Swāmi occupies as high a position in the spiritual world of South India as his great predecessor Śrī Periya Parakālar occupied in the 17th and 18th centuries. It should, however, be mentioned that such stupendous work has been rendered possible by the fact that the Swāmi, early in his career as the RAJA GURU, wisely selected a band of devoted men of proved ability to advise him in the ordinary administrative duties of the Mutt. And it is the consciousness of his being the "Śrī Lakshmī Hayagrīva Divya Pāduka Sevaka" which has always helped him throughout the score of years he has been gracing the Divya Simhāsanam. Well might his example be emulated by every other occupant of similar position in this dear old land of ours !! May Lord Śrī Hayagrīva grant another two score years of the same uninterrupted service to Srīmad Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra

Parakāla Swāmi, even as He was pleased to vouchsafe to Śrī Rāmānuja Parakāla Swāmi the founder of the modern State of Mysore !

No. 34.—CONJEEVERAM INSCRIPTION OF BRAHMA-TANTRA-SVATANTRA-JIYAR SAKA 1282

BY SRI A. S. RAMANATHA AYYAR, B.A., MADRAS

Extract:

“The inscription¹ published below is engraved on the north wall of the second prākāra of the Varadarāja temple at Little-Conjeeveram, otherwise called Vishṇu-Kāñchī, which is very sacred to the Vaishṇavas of the south.

The characters in which the record is engraved are Tamil and Grantha, the latter being employed for the Sanskrit words. The language is Tamil with an admixture of Sanskrit words, and is somewhat illustrative of the type of Vaishṇava composition prevalent in this period and locality. The record is very well preserved, and its orthography does not call for any comment.

The record does not quote any king's name but is simply dated in Śaka 1282 and contains the astronomical details—Vikārin, Mēsha śu. 1, Friday and Aśvati—which yield the equivalent A.D. 1359, March 29. It states that a certain Vaishṇavadāsa who had been given the title of Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jiyar by the god (Hastigirīśa), was put in charge of a matha evidently at Kāñchīpuram in Śaka 1282. This information is of interest for Vaishṇava religious history, as it enables us to identify this first pontiff of the māṭha with the direct disciple of the great Vēdānta-Dēśika, the erudite scholar, keen controversialist and deeply venerated Vaishṇava āchārya,² whose literary and religious activities are said to have extended over a major portion of the 14th century A.D.

As mentioned above, the inscription does not refer itself to the reign of any king, but it is somewhat peculiarly worded, in that it purports to have been issued by the deity himself. In the Tamil records of this temple, the god is called Aruḷālap-perumāl or Tiruvattiyūr-niṇḍarulīya-Paramasvāmin, or ‘the great Lord who was pleased to stand at Tiruvattiyūr’. The village-name Tiruvattiyūr having been Sanskritised into Hastigiri,³ the god came to be known to Sanskrit authors as Hastigirīśa, by which name he is referred to in the opening verse of this epigraph. It is stated that on the representation made by the agent Perumāltāṭaṇ and other Bhaṭṭas, the god, while seated in regal pomp with his consorts in the abhisheka-mandapa of the temple on the throne named Viravallālaṇ under the canopy called the Ariyenavallāṇ-pandal listening to the chanting of the songs of Saṭhakōpa, was pleased to confer the title of Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar on a certain Vaishṇavadāsa and to put him in charge of a māṭha and its properties, so that he may propagate the tenets of the *Rāmānuja-darśanam*⁴ to the Vaishṇava laity, and maintain the library which he had collected, probably in the māṭha premises. A sentence at the end adds that this divine order (tirumugam) was engraved on stone by the temple-accountant.

² Dēśika is believed to have been born in A.D. 1269, Śukla, and to have died in A.D. 1370, Saumya. The present record is of help in confirming the period of his literary activity as the second half of the 14th century A.D.

In regard to the particular style of wording in this inscription, couched as if the orders had emanated directly from the deity himself, it may be mentioned that this convention was adopted by some of the Vaishṇava temples in the Tirunelvēli District in the 14th and 15th centuries A.D., and in some instances in the South Arcot and Chingleput Districts also.

Before proceeding to examine the contents of this record, a few expressions occurring in it may be explained.

(L. 2). Viravallālāñ simhāsanam and Ariyena-vallāñ-pandal are the names respectively of a throne and a canopy. The first was probably presented to the temple by the Hoysala king Vīra-Ballāla III,⁵

⁴ Compare the verse composed in praise of this Jīyar :

हस्तीशं लोकविख्यातं कौण्डन्यं विदुषां वरम् ।
रामानुजार्थसिद्धान्तस्थापनाचार्यमाश्रये ॥

while the second may have been named after some one having the title ‘he who is as powerful as a lion,’ but whose title it was is not known.

Nam pen̄duga!—viz., Vishṇu’s two consorts, Śrī and Bhūmī.

Śaṭhakōpañ-pāṭṭu kēlānīrka—Śaṭhakōpa is the name of the Vaishṇava saint Nammālvār, whose Tiruvāymoḷi is considered equal to the Vēdas in sanctity and is chanted in the presence of the deity on particular occasions. Endowments made for this service in Vishṇu temples are often mentioned in inscriptions.⁶

(L. 3). Perumāltātaṇ—Perumāltātaṇ or Perumāl-dāsaṇ would ordinarily mean ‘a devotee of Perumāl (Vishṇu)’; but in this context it appears to have been the name of the agent, supervising the sacred business of the temple (nam vīṭṭu karumam kēṭkum), in whose presence and that of the Bhaṭṭas of the temple, the order is stated to have been promulgated. The name ‘Vaishṇavadāsa’ occurring in the same line has to be considered as meaning ‘the servant-devotee of Vaishṇavās’ rather than as the personal name of the donee in the record; for according to the Guruparamparā-prabhāvam, the original name of Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar was Pērarulālāyyaṇ of Vīravalli⁷ and his dāsyānāma on becoming a samnyāsin was Pērarulāla-Jīyaṇ.

⁶ Madras Epigraphical Report for 1908, Part II, para. 35.

⁷ Guruparamparā-prabhāvam (Tamil, Madras), p. 114; see also f.n. 3 on p. 319.

(L. 4). Samārādhanamum adukku vēñđum muñțukkalum—seems to refer to the worship to be conducted to the deities kept in the māṭha itself and the requirements therefor. It is usual for every māṭha to have images of some deities for worship. In this connection, it may be noted that on the eve of the demise of Vēdānta-Dēśika, some images are said to have been bequeathed to his disciple Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar.⁸

Postakaṅgalum idukku vēñđum upakarañangalum—By postakaṅgaḷ (pustaka), manuscript bundles are apparently meant. The upakaraṇas are the accessories and paraphernalia required for running a library—such as probably racks for the accommodation of the manuscript bundles, spare sets of cadjan leaves for copying work, and stylus and other scribal apparatus.

Rāmānuja-darśanam—is the Viśiṣṭādvaita-siddhānta as codified and expounded in his Śrībhāṣya by the great Vaishṇava apostle Rāmānuja (A.D. 1017–1137). It was he who had raised this system to an unassailable eminence and had arranged for its propagation in true missionary style, by the training of a number of able exponents and *śimhāsnādhipatis*⁹ from among his numerous disciples.

(L. 5). Nam Rāmānujam-udaiyārum nam sama-yattil ullārum—Rāmānujam-udaiyār appears to mean

⁸ Guruparamparā-prabhāvam, p. 138.

the ‘followers of Rāmānuja.’¹⁰ The idea seems to be that the selection of Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar as the pontiff was to receive the acceptance of Rāmānuja’s followers and the Vaishṇava laity (samayattil-ullār).

(L. 6) Ivañukku nām mudittapañiyum udutta-pañiyum pūśinapañiyum kuduttōm—means that the flowers worn by the god, the clothes used by him and the sandal-paste and unguents utilised for his worship were presented to the Jīyar as a mark indicative of the god’s love to the recipient. This expression is found used in some inscriptions¹¹ and in Vaishṇava literature.

As regards Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar, the donee of the record, some information is available from Vaishṇava literature. Among the South Indian religions, it was Vaishṇavism alone that had developed the ‘historical sense’ to an appreciable extent, and there are therefore several biographies of the Vaishṇava āchāryas available, collated under the names of Vaibhavas and Guruparamparās of varying volume.¹² One such work dealing with the life of the great Vaishṇava reformer Vēdānta-Dēśika is the *Guruparamparā-prabhāvam*¹³ in Tamil prose by Trītiya-

¹¹ Compare No. 567 of 1919 of the Madras Epigraphical collection.

¹² There are many biographies of Dēśika available. The Vēdānta-Dēśika-vaibhava-prakāśikā by Doddayāchārya is in Sanskrit.

¹³ Published in Madras in several editions. Dvitīya-Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar, the āchārya of the author of this work is said to have written the Panññirāyirappadī-Guruparamparā-prabhāvam which is not extant.

Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar. Shorn of the few miraculous elements that are inevitable in an orthodox hagiography this work compiled by an author who lived only a few generations later than Dēśika may be considered as fairly reliable. From it we gather the following details about Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar, the first of that name, who was a disciple of Vēdānta-Dēśika :

“Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar belonged to the Kaundinya-gōtra and was originally called Vīravalli Pērarulālayyaṇ. Well-versed in all the sāstras he became an ardent disciple of Dēśika and assumed the saṁnyāsa garb under the name of Pērarulāla-Jīyar. When the Raṅganātha temple at Śrīraṅgam was looted by the Muhammadans in the first quarter of the 14th century Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar fled along with his āchārya to Satyamangalam (in the Coimbatore District) and returned to Śrīraṅgam only after some years. He was taught the Bhagavad-vishayam (Ārāyirappadi) by Varadāchārya alias Nayinārāchārya, the son and disciple of Vēdānta-Dēśikā, in Kali 4440, Bahudhānya, Āvaṇi śu, 2, Hasta (= A.D. 1338, August 18). On one occasion, he vanquished a pandit of North India in a polemical contest at Śrīraṅgam and was honoured by Dēśika with the title of ‘Brahma-tantra-svatantra’¹⁴ ‘he who is a master in Brahma-tantra’. That accounts for the origin of the name by which he was popularly known. On another occasion during the régime of Tirumalai-Śrīnivāsāchārya¹⁵ who had been installed by Dēśika as the Śrīkārya-dhurandhara of the Kāñchipuram temple, Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar overcame a Kashmirian pandit in a philosophical discussion and earned the title of ‘Paryāya-Bhāshyakāra’.¹⁶ Some time later under the direction of god Veṅkaṭēśa in a dream, he accepted the Trusteeship of the Tirupati temple, and during his tenure of office there, he installed an image of Vēdānta-Dēśika in a matha built by him at Tirumalai, as well as in a mandapa in the Gōvindarāja temple at Lower Tirupati. He stayed at Tirupati for a long time expounding the Vaishṇava philosophy to his disciples Ghaṭikāśatakam-Ammāl, Kidāmbi-Nayinār, Kōmāṇḍur-Achchālli, Pillaiy-Appai, Pērarulālāyyaṇ-Appai, Kandāḍai-Āṇḍālli, Viravalli-Pillai and others. After his demise he was succeeded by Pērarulālāyyaṇ-Appai. Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar was the author of two small works—the *Divyasūri-stuti*¹⁷ and the Āchāryāvatāra-ghaṭīarthā.¹⁸

¹⁵ Guruparamparā-prabhāvam, p. 138. He was the author of a religious work called the Prabandha-nirvāham.

¹⁶ A verse composed by Ghaṭikāśatakam-Ammāl in praise of this Jīyar reads—

पर्यायभाष्यकाराय प्रणताति विधून्वते ।

ब्रह्मतन्त्रस्वतन्त्राय द्वितीयब्रह्मणे नमः ॥

¹⁷ The colophon reads—

ब्रह्मतन्त्रस्वतन्त्रोक्तां दिव्यसूरिस्तुतिं . . . ।

¹⁸ Its colophon reads—

ब्रह्मतन्त्रस्वतन्त्रेण परकालयतोन्दुना ।

आचार्यावतारघटार्थं संग्रहेण प्रकाश्यते ॥

‘Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar of the record under review may be identified with the disciple of Vēdānta-Dēśika, because of the fact that the investiture of this unique title of ‘Brahma-tantra-svatantra’, herein attributed to the god himself, had been made more than a decade prior to the demise of Dēśika and that this āchārya’s name figures in three important ‘pontifical lists’.¹⁹

The maṭha which was thus started at Kāñchi-puram under the pontificate of this Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyar in A.D. 1360 grew in importance and appears to have latterly removed its headquarters to Mēlkōṭe in the Mysore State, where it became popular under the name of the Parakāla-maṭha.²⁰ There were several scholars among the subsequent heads of this maṭha, and a short sketch of its history has been given in the granth-ōpasarīhāra of the Alaikāra-mañihāra.²¹

¹⁹ In this connection the following orthodox three-fold ‘lists’ may be noted :

- (a) Mantrārtha-guruparamparā — Emberumāṇī, Kiḍāmbi-Āchhāṇ, Kiḍāmbi Rāmānuja Appūlāṇ, Śriṅgarājar, Appūlāṇ, Dēśikar and Brahma-tantra-svatantrar.
- (b) Śribhāṣya-guruparamparā — Emberumāṇī, Tirukkuru-gaippirāṇ-Piḷāṇ, Eṅgaṭālvāṇ, Nāḍādūr-Ammāl, Appūlāṇ, Dēśikar and Brahma-tantra-svatantrar.
- (c) Bhagavad-vishaya-guruparamparā—Same as in (b), Dēśikar, Nayīnārāchāryar and Brahma-tantra-svatantrar.

²⁰ See Paṭanadaiyiṭakkam, Part II, p. 28.

²¹ Published in the Mysore Sanskrit Series.

Vēdānta-Dēśika is stated in the Guruparamparā-prabhāvam to have been the contemporary of a certain Telugu chief named Sarvajña-Śinghabūpāla and to have composed the Subhāshitanīvī for his delectation.²² The same chief is said to have honoured Nayinārāchārya, the son and disciple of Dēśika, with the gift of a palanquin and other paraphernalia, when this āchārya went to the northern parts in his religious tours. It follows therefore that Brahma-tantra-svatantra was also a contemporary of this Śinga.

“Another point of interest in this epigraph is the reference to a collection of manuscripts (or a library) which was kept in the māṭha and a stipulation made for its proper upkeep, as envisaged in the expression ‘iva tēdiṇa postakāṅgalum idukku vēṇḍum upakaraṇāṅgalum’. It is well-known that in the medieval centuries, religious institutions of all denominations, Śaiva, Vaishṇava and Jaina, flourished in South India, either as a result of royal patronage or supported by private benefactions. They appear to have been primarily intended as seminaries for the imparting of religious education and incidentally for the dissemination of secular knowledge as well. The extensive properties granted from time to time to temples and to such religious establishments were left in charge of the heads of these mathas called Maṭhādhipatis, Mudaliyārs or Jīyars, on whom devolved the duty of supervising the proper conduct of the services for which the endowments had been intended, and who, in turn, enjoyed some privileges as remuneration for their services.

TRANSLATION

This is according to the sacred order.

Hail ! Prosperity !

This is the order of the glorious Lord of Hastigiri, the god of gods, which is red with the brilliance of the gems in the diadems of the (supplicating) lords of the celestials and of the Asuras :

“ In the month of Mēsha of the (cyclic) year Vikārin, on a Friday with prathamā-tithi of the first fortnight and Aśvati-nakshatra, while We, in company with Our consorts, were listening to the songs of Śaṭhakōpa, seated on the throne (named) Vīra-vallālan̄ under the canopy (called) Ariyēṇavallālan̄ in the abhishēka-mandapa (of the temple)— on the representation (made) by Perumāltātan̄, who supervises the (sacred) business of Our temple (nam vīḍu), and by Our Bhaṭṭas, We were pleased to assign to a Vaishṇavadāsa on whom we had bestowed the name of Brahma-tantra-svatantra-Jīyan̄, the māṭha which had been set apart for him, the lands belonging thereto, the worship to be conducted therein and the expenses therefor, the books which he had accumulated and the accessories required for them (i.e., their maintenance), so that he may propagate Our Rāmānuja-darśanam, and after him, the disciples selected by him may, in succession, take possession of these and continue (the work).

We directed that the followers of Rāmānuja (Rāmānujam-uḍaiyār) and those of our Vaishṇava samayam shall accept him (i.e., his pontificate) and carry on (the work).

We also ordered that this information be engraved on stone and copper, and We presented him (in token of Our regard) what had been used (as garlands), what had been worn (as clothes), and what had been anointed (as unguents) by Us."

As thus graciously commanded (by the god), this is the writing (or signature) of the temple-accountant Pērarulālapriyan.

The Šaka year in which this sacred order was written (engraved) is One thousand two hundred and eighty-two.

Kannada Sannad by Kanthīrava Narasarāja Wodeyar (1639-59) 13th lunar day of the dark half of Jyeshtha in the cyclic year of Virodhi.

"The Sannad is issued in the name of the King Kanthīrava Narasarāja Wodeyar..... The Sannad records an order of the King that the practice of using the 'tanian' (invocatory verse) of Rāmānuja Dayāpātra in sacred places like the Tirunārāyanaswāmi temple at Melukote on the occasion of reciting Prabandhas (Tamil hymns) which was in vogue from the time of Rāja Wodeyar, King of Mysore up to the reign of Kanthirava Narasarāja Wodeyar, should continue in the future also in the same manner as previously.....

"This invocatory Sānskrit verse commencing with Rāmānuja-dayapātram....is stated to have been composed by Brahmatantraswāmi, disciple of Vedāntadesika and the reputed founder of the Parakāla Mutt, in the Kali year 4490 Bahudhānya Sam. Āvani Māsam Suk. 2 Hasta-nakshatra—which is equivalent to 18th August 1338 A.D., at Melukote and sanctioned by Vedāntadesika for use in the recitation and study of the Tamil Prabandhas. It is said to have received further support from the approval of the God Ranganātha at Srīrangam in the year Sarvadhāri."

A copper-plate grant at Seringapatam, E.C. III Seringapatam 64 of A.D. 1722 of the King of Mysore, Krishnaraja Wodeyar I, son of Kanthirava Narasarāja Wodeyar II, refers to an ascetic named Srīnivasa Yati, etc., etc.

“According to the Annals of the Mysore Royal Family, Part I, p. 163, the priest who came from Tirupati as the above King’s Guru is ‘Dodda Parakālaswāmi’. The Mutt tradition identifies him with Srīnivasa Yati of the above copper-plate and with Parakālaswāmi, Guru of Sreenivāsa Parakālaswāmi, in the Belur Sannad.”

SRI PARAKALASWAMI OR
PERIYA (DODDA) PARAKALASWAMI

Srī Dodda Parakālaswāmi referred to above (in the Annals of the Royal Family) is intimately connected with Māgadi (Bangalore District), to whose chiefs he, as well as his ancestors, had been family Gurus.

An extract from p. 15, para 55, of the “Annual Report of the Mysore Archaeological Department for the year 1922” has the following:—

“Kempanāchi Gowda’s son Virēgauda came to Mysore from Ālur, a village near Conjeevaram. He built the village Yelahanka and set up the God Gopālakrishna there, took possession of Bangalore and constructed a tank named “Kempāmbudhi”.

“His son Hiriyakempegowda (1588–1608) built in Bangalore a fort and four watch towers known as Vaiyālisikhara in the four directions. He went to Vijayanagar and received from King Krishnadevarāya Ballāpura, Devanahalli and Hoscote.”

"Immadi Kempe Gowda captured Hulikal, Huliyurdurga and Sivaganga, took possession of Māgadi and built on Sāvandurga a fort and the temples of Narasimha and Vīrabhadra. He also built at the instance of his family Guru Sreenivasadesikacharya, the navaranga or central hall of the Ranganātha temple near Māgadi."

"As there was some misunderstanding between his two sons Mummadī Kempegowda and Honnappa Gowda, he made a division of the kingdom and made the younger son Honnappa. Gowda the ruler of Hulikal in 1634, directing him to have Annayāchārya of Hulikal as his Guru. On a representation made by his Guru Tiruvenkatāchārya that Subsequently Tiruvenkatāchārya became a Sanyāsi under the name of Dodda Parakālaswāmi and resided in the Matha at Seringapatam."

"Kempavīrappa Gowda sanctioned a money grant to the Ranganātha temple at the instance of Dodda Parakālaswāmi who sent for consecration in the temple metallic figures of the goddess Lakshmī and Vedāntāchārya. The scale of expenditure was also drawn up in consultation with the Swāmī's grandson Rāghavāchārya".

"In 1711 the chief set up for his mother the God Cheluvarāyaswāmi in Cheluvarāyapete to the south of Māgadi with the assistance of Srīrangachārya who had come there from Sreerangam, and in 1712 the God Varadarājaswāmi at Baichāpura with the assistance of his Guru Rāghavāchārya....."

“It is stated that this sum of 500 varahās was being met from various items of revenue belonging to Ayakattura Chāvadi, the big stores and the small stores, the departments of Vichāra Chāvadi and Devasthāna Chāvadi. The present order substituted for this income of the villages Attani, etc., belonging to Andūra-Sthala belonging to Ayakathina-Chāvadi.”

Annual Report of the Mysore Archaeological Department for the year 1938.

"This Sannad has a small seal with the letters Sri Krishna in Nāgari characters on the top. Below are two small lines, the upper one containing the name Ammanavaru and the lower one the name Krishna-rājavadeyaravaru (II). Below there is the main body of the Sannad.....

"The Sannad records a grant made by the Mysore Krishnarāja Wodeyar II (1734–1766) and his mother Ammanavaru. It is addressed to Haidar Ali Khan Bahadur or Hyder who was the Ruler of the Mysore State from 1761 to 1782. The date of the grant is the 14th lunar day of the bright half of Margasira in the year Chitrabhānu.....Devājammannī was the King's adoptive mother."

"The Sannad begins with the statement that the villages Attani, Navaluru and Mungipatti situated in Anduru-Sthala were given away as ordered by the King's mother, free of taxes to the Mutt of Vedānta Parakāla-swāmi, for carrying on the charities like the feeding of the Brahmins every day.

"It is stated in the Sannad that sometime after the above villages came into the possession of the Mutt, a local agent (Sthaladalli baduku māduvaru) was demanding for himself the rent due to the Mutt and brought the villages under his authority and in various ways caused trouble.

"The Sannad concludes with an order that as the said villages were granted for the feeding of Brahmins in the Mutt of Vedānta Parakālaswāmi, the local agent had no right to interfere in the above manner and he was to be ordered to make over the money exacted till then to the Mutt and to allow the Mutt to enjoy in peace the said villages and to prevent any molestation or obstruction to the Mutt in the enjoyment of the villages."

Extract from Sannad of Nawab Tippu Sultan Bahadur of Mysore (15th September 1783 A.D.).

"The 'Nirup' is addressed to Kuppaiya, Devasthānada-Sime-Pārupatyāgar or manager of the department of temples in the State to the system of reciting invocatory verses in the temple at Melukote (see above). It is stated in this nirup that Anche Samiya (an officer under Tipu) was violating the old usage in the temple at Melukote regarding the use of invocatory verses and it was now ordained that both forms of invocation which begin with "Rāmānuja-dayapātra" and "Srīsailesha-dayapātra" might be used. Further the Pārupatyādar was ordered to be fair to both the sects of Vadagalai and Tenkale (which used the above invocations) and to remove the image of Pillai Lokāchārya (a saint of the Tenkale sect) to its original place at Melukote and to take the God in procession to Kesavaswāmi mantapa and other mantapas and distribute tirtha (sacred water) and prasada consecrated food offered to God during the Tirunakshatra and conduct the services with zeal in the usual manner....."

Letter dated the 13th day of Magha M.I. in the year Sukla (1809 A.D.), from Dewan Purniah, to Srinivasa-char, Parupathegar of Sri Rāmānuja Parakālaswāmi's Mutt.

In your petition of the 7th instant you state that in all the Vishnu temples in this Province including that of Melukote, Vadagalay-Nāmās are borne, but for certain idols in the Swetavarāhaswāmi's temple newly constructed and founded at the instance of Government, Tengale and Vadagalay Nāmās are both put on indiscriminately and that the cross stone beam of the Mahā-dwāra itself bears a Tengale Nāmā. You further mention therein that certain people have given this information to the Swāmi and that from the very commencement, Vadagalay sampradāya or observance prevails in this Province, and you ask for information as to the orders which have been given.

According to the prevailing custom of putting the Vadagalay Nāmās on all the idols in all Vishnu temples in this Province, the Mahārāja of which is the principal disciple of the Srīgalavaru's Mutt, Vadagalay Nāmās alone have been ordered to be put on and supplied to all the idols in Swetavarāhaswāmi's temple as well as to its dhwajasthamba, vāhanās, silver vessels, peeta, prabhāvali, etc. The stone beam which was on the doorway of the gopura in the old temple, was sent for and inspected. There was a mark of Tengalay Nāmā on the same. That has also been ordered to be changed.

Communicate all these particulars to the Swāmi and inform him that the Mahā Mātusriyavaru (Queen Mother) has expressed a wish that he (the Swāmi) may once go to the temple, visit the Srī Swethavarāhaswāmy and accept thīrtham and prasāda there. Report the orders which the Swāmi may give in this matter.

"The nirūp records an order of the King that certain honours in all the temples of the God Vishnu situated within their jurisdictions should be offered first to the Rājaguru (royal preceptor) Sri Ghantāvatāra Parakāla-Swāmi. These honours are said to consist of the distribution of tīrtha, tirumale, varase. viniyoga, placing of Sathagopa on the head (Sathagopa consisting of a metallic cup-like vessel on which the feet of Vishnu are imprinted). These were ordered before all others to the above Swāmi.

"It was further ordained that the first tīrtha, garland, etc., in the temples of Vishnu should be given to the Brahmans of the above Mutt authorised by the Mutt (in the absence of the Swāmi). When the Swāmis (heads of the Parakāla Mutt) visited the above temples, the temple authorities were required to meet the Swāmi with the usual honours of Satagopa, musical band (tāla myāla), etc., and take him to the temple and offer him tīrtha and garlands and the honours as stated before. In all the Vishnu temples visited by the above Swāmīs the temple authorities were further required to carry out the instructions of the Swāmi and conduct him with honours to the next gadī (village boundary).

"A copy of the Sannad was ordered to be entered into the registers of the accountants (Shānubhoga) of the above temples and the original itself was to be returned to the Parakāla Mutt.

"I take refuge in the feet of Parakāla Yatīndra, which can only be attained by long austerities and which remove all torments of hell."

Then the donees are named as the gods Hayagrīva, and Lakshmīnārāyana in the Mutt of Parakālaswāmi. The gods are praised as the masters of the myriads of worlds and worshipped by the great Brahmatantra Ghantāvatāra Parakāla.

The prose passage in praise of the above guru may be translated as follows:—

Adorner of the throne of the seventy-four families of Vaishnavās set up by the favour of the great ascetic Rāmānujāchārya who is born in the earth under the orders of the Lord of Vaikuntha (Nārāyana) shining with royal grace on the seat formed by Anantha Sesha adorned with thousand pillared hoods in a divine jewelled pavilion which is the eye of the city of Vaikuntha rich with supernatural wealth and brilliant with the lustre of ten thousand suns, impossible to be fully perceived by mind or speech by Brahma and others and situated above in the Brahmānanda (universe) comprising several millions of worlds; and who is skilled in dispelling the pride of the wicked disputants and in the composition of the sacred commentary on the Sārīraka Sutrās.

The above guru of the Parakāla Mutt is also praised as the establisher of the Vedic religion, paīamahamsa-parivrājakāchārya, well-versed in all the tantrās, a teacher of both the Vedānthalas (Sanskrit and Tamil), a dependant on the lotus feet of Vedānthadesika (Kavikathaka-Kanthīrava, a lion to poets and logicians) and a disciple of the great ascetic Rāmānuja Parakāla.

May the Lord who took the body of a boar raising the earth from the ocean and whose tusk resembling a sprout has the great tortoise as its root, the serpent (Sesha) as the stalk, the elephants of the quarters as its leaves, the Meru (mountain) as its bud, the earth as its lotus flower, and the sky as the bee (in it) protect the three worlds constantly.

May the bar-like tusk of the sportive Boar form of Hari, resting on which the Earth with Meru as the pinnacle, bore the charm of a parasol, protect us.

The Nirūp next gives the date of the grant as S. 1738 Dhatu Sam. Magha Su. 10 Monday. The date is also given at the end (line 153) as 2nd (mistake for 27th) January 1817 A.D. its English equivalent.

APPENDIX VIII

From the 28th of June 1836 to the 4th of April 1846, i.e., a period of ten years from his accession to the holy seat of Sri Brahmatantia, His Holiness Sri Srinivasa Brahmatantra Parakala Swami may be said to have prepared himself and his Royal Disciple, Maharaaja Sri Mummadri Krishnaraja Wodeyar for the fulfilment of a great purpose, viz., the display of the cultural achievement of Mysore, within the period of fifteen years from the date on which the administration of Mysore was taken over by the East India Company leaving H. H. the Maharaaja free to devote himself to the attainment of cultural and spiritual eminence and to attain a position which may verily be compared to the one which King Janaka of Mithila had acquired in ancient times. In this task of co-operation between the King and his Guru, the distinguished Commissioners and their Assistants were steadfastly loyal and helpful to the Maharaaja and to his Guru. Thus the first decade of Sri Srinivasa Brahmatantra Parakala Swami's regime prominently brings forth the close contact between the Maharaaja and his Guru in all spiritual matters, including affairs connected with the management of temples, Mutts of all persuasions, Sabhas of Sanskrit pundits and encouragement of scholars, in Kannada, Persian, Urdu, etc. While the Swamiji's predecessor Sri Ghantavatara Parakalaswami toured the Southern Indian regions (1811-16), which had been consolidated by the East India Company after the fall of Seringapatam and the Restoration of the Mysore Monarchy in A.D. 1799, His Holiness Sri Srinivasa projected to tour through

Sri Srinivasa Brahmatantra Parakala Swamigal

Sri Srinivasa Brahm tantra Parakala Swami and
H. H. Sri Krishnaraja Wadiyar III

“DHARMADIGVIJAYAM” OF SRI SRINIVASA BRAHMATANTRA PARAKALASWAMI—PARABHAVA AND PLAVANGA

(a) The first part of this journey was directed towards the south and south-eastern districts of Mysore.

The main purpose of the journey was the establishment of an unbreakable spiritual link between the beloved sovereign and his loving subjects who looked at him as the fountain-head of Dharma based on Eternal Truth in consonance with the spirit underlying the motto engraved on the Royal Emblem of Mysore.

“Sathyam eva Uddharāmyaham”

When the hereditary Guru of the State and its Sovereign himself went out as representative of the Sovereign, it was just natural that every class and every member of his prajā could visualise the spiritual influence which the Sovereign was open to. Hence it was that all classes of the subjects, officials and non-officials, zamindars and craftsmen, men and women, agricultural labourers, all had their due share in the royal and devoted welcome accorded to the learned sage and saint. If the Sovereign and his officials were themselves obliged to go out on inspection tours to establish close contact with their subjects to secure their loyalty and affection, was it not incumbent on the Guru who was the appointed custodian of the morals and the ancient faith to show himself as often as he could to the people inhabiting the areas remote from the few cities, the centres of administration? Those who had no opportunities to resort to the capital and view the pomp and splendour of royalty displayed on occasions like the Dasara and Royal Birthday celebrations, the Sri Krishna Jayanthi celebrations and temple processions, etc. could have these at their very doors on a small scale at least, to which a special religious flavour was conveyed. Womanhood in particular would be more subject to such religious processions involving temple honours on a grand scale, even superior to those offered to Royal personages, the Poojas and Pādapoojās performed in their very homes. What would be the influence on the children and the younger generation ?

(b) The spots selected for putting up the camp would naturally be in the neighbourhood of villages and townships, where small rivers and lakes, topes, and famous shrines with their architectural excellences, displaying all that was grand and pious, and the spirit of sacrifice for God and religion. It was motives like these which prompted such tours by the occupants of the gādi of the "Paramagurus" of the Royal House of Mysore.

(c) In the camps of these Gurus in their itineraries could be seen the most distinguished scholars of the age versed in the different branches of the ancient sacred lore. The discussions in the Sabha which were held wherever scholars could resort to easily would be an incentive to the younger generation who had the privilege of viewing these.

(d) The importance of the village in shaping the morals of the country, the ideals which the members of the learned classes should pursue, the joy of engaging in common worship, irrespective of class and creed, the promotion of healthy competition amongst all classes and both sexes in the service of God, was naturally the most wonderful feature of the congregations resulting from these grand tours organised with such remarkable efficiency and supported by the State with such lavishness. It is for the generation of to-day to visualise for itself these scenes of the near past, only a century ago, when the establishment of British Dominion over this sacred land of ours had not acquired perfect stability. Alas ! what change has overtaken the people in this short period !

Starting from Mysore on the 11th April, in about a month's time His Holiness the Swāmījī, keeping to the Kāveri and the Kapilā banks mostly, in South Mysore, camping at Krishnarājendra Agrahar, Srīkanthapura Agrahar, Rāghavapuram, Krishnāpur (T. Narsipur Taluk), Hemmige, Talakād, Agara, Yelandur, Biligirirangan Hills, Honnur and Tāyur, arrived at Chamarājanagar (22-5-1846) where in the Palace he sat down for Chāturmāsya and returned to Mysore (18-9-1846) just in time for the Dasara which commenced on 21-9-1846.

His Holiness having conferred phala-mantrākshate on them all, the grand escort marched towards the abode of Lord Sri Krishna firing feu de joie now and then along the way and arrived at an appointed spot near a tree. The Brahmins who were waiting there with basketfuls of fried paddy (lāja) bathed the Swāmi's palanquin with the contents and conducted the guest to the door of the Mutt, where the Swāmi of Udipi was waiting to receive him. The distinguished visitor having got down from his palanquin on beholding his host, the latter now advanced towards his guest, and having showered lāja over his head, grasped him by the hand and led him to the hall where Sri Krishna was lodged. There in the centre, opposite the Lord, in a pavilion made up of roof of silken cloth, two seats had been arranged with reclining planks, and covered with white flowers, with deer skins placed over. The two Swāmīs took their seats simultaneously. After a brief and joyful conversation in Sanskrit about each other's welfare, etc., the Sri Swāmi of Udipi clothed his guest with his own hands with a pair of Kashmir Shawls. The junior Swāmi of the Preji Mutt, who was present, did likewise and covered the guest with silk clothes. Then a large number of plates containing provisions, etc., for the Tadiyārādhane in the Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt were brought in and placed there for acceptance by the guest for Lord Srī Hayagrīva, fruits, flowers, garlands, musk, pachchakarpoor, etc., being also among the offerings. All these were carried then by the Udipi Mutt's servants to the abode which had been fixed up for Srī Hayagrīva's lodging. Then Srī Swāmi of Udipi took the Mysore Āchārya by the hand and led him to the place and said, "Here, in this spot, I beg that Lord Srī Hayagrīva may abide and receive worship." In the evening, after the usual worship was over in the Udipi Mutt, His Holiness having arranged an Āsthānam in the presence of Sri Krishna sent his elder brother in his former ashram, the Āchar, to Sri Swāmi from Mysore inviting him to the Āsthānam. In response to this His Holiness promptly proceeded to the Āsthānam and was received by His Holiness of Udupi. When he had taken his seat, His Holiness of Udupi took up a silver cup containing sandal oil, and dipping a flower into it smeared it to the neck of his guest and sprinkled sandal powder over it. He then garlanded his guest with a garland made up of three varieties of flowers and presented with two plates, one full of rupees and other containing a pair of the famous silver bordered dhoties made in Bangalore.

He then begged his guest to garland the Vidwāns of the Āsthānam in his presence to which, of course, his guest most gladly signified his approval. His Highness also entreated the Āchārya Swāmi to have the interests of the State, the Royal Family, the peoples of this Premier State and help preserve the hoary culture of the land, and cement the cultural relations of the State with those living outside its limits and bring glory to the land and constantly grant his blessings. Having obtained the Āchārya's assent and promise to walk in the footsteps of the line of the great Swāmies with, of course, the unfailing support and co-operation of Their Highnesses and the officials of the State as well as the public, His Highness presented phalam and khillats to his Āchārya-elect, and performed namaskārams. The Āchārya, in his turn, granted phalamantrākshate to His Highness and with his permission took his departure.

His Holiness encouraged the Āchārya and assured him of the full support of God in his tasks, and himself felt immensely relieved as to the future of the great institution over which he had the privilege to preside with such distinction for a period of twenty-nine years.

His Highness the Mahārāja came to the Mutt at 5 o'clock and acquainted His Holiness the fact of his having faithfully carried out the will of His Holiness and appealed to him to have his mind at rest during the remaining period of his life which God may vouchsafe for him. women and children. There were present amongst the gathering Sri Sirdar Lakshmikāntharaj Urs, the Palace Dharmādhikāris, the Palace Durbar Bakshi, the Palace Muzrai Bakshi, Sirdar Sri Gopālakrishne Urs, Sri Rāna Lakshman Singhjee, other leading Arsu noblemen, the Palace Assistant Secretary, the Mahāvidwans, the Rutwiiks, Purohits, Josyers of the Palace, the Mokhtesars of the different ilākhas of the Palace, the Principal with Pundits of the Mahārāja's Sanskrit College, the Deputy Commissioner, Mysore District, Sri A. V. Ramanathan, Sri Nyāpati Madhava Rau, President of the Mysore City Council, Sri Amble Subrahmanyā Aiyar, Sri Amble Anniah Punditar and other Laukikas. All these had kept themselves in readiness to offer to their great beloved Ruler a fitting and loving welcome.

As Their Highnesses Sri man Mahārāja and Sri mad Yuvarāja turned the corner near the Jaganmohan Palace Square, the Dwarapālakas with the silver maces, and the chāmarams, and the Panchakalasha Chattri-bearers (Brahman servants) who were ready awaiting His Holiness' arrival provided the escort along with the Mutt and Palace honours to Their Highnesses. As Their Highnesses alighted, the "Poornakumbham" of the Sri Mutt having been offered, Their Highnesses received the same with solemn pranām and approached the grand decorated pavilion which had been erected by the Mysore City Municipal Council, the Vaidika and Laukika officials of the Mutt headed by Sri kāryakartha Sri Purānam Sri nivasa Deekshācharyar and Sri Narasimharaghavachar, the Mukhami, followed by the gentlemen and the high officials already assembled offered the warmest welcome to the "Rājarshi" and his beloved brother, an embodiment of culture coupled with utmost simplicity and unalloyed truth, poured a heavy shower on them of choicest “Parimalada hoovu” (flowers of fragrance). The “Mangalavādyams” filling the air, in the midst of Jayaghoshams, Their Highnesses made their entry into the Hall and performed “Sāstāṅga Pranām” in front of the Deities. Just then His Holiness who had been waving the Ārathi within the shrine to the Deities to enable the august guests to secure clear darshan emerged and offered it to them. The grant of teertham following, His Holiness with his own hands gently released the heavy garlands from the neck of Srī Hayagrīva and Srī Lakshminārāyana and adorned the necks of the Royal brothers along with the boquets held by the hands of the Deities.

His Holiness then emerged from the Srī Sannidhi and directed his holy steps leading Their Highnesses towards the quadrangle behind the Srī Sannidhi, where the Brindāvan Mantaps of Their Holinesses Srī Ghantāvatāra, Srī Vedāntha, Srī Ranganātha Swāmies stood as also the one arranged to be dedicated to Srī Krishna Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmis. In everyone of these Sannidhis, His Holiness performed Mangalārathi and offered it along with the double garlands worn by the Swāmis to Their Highnesses. But as His Holiness led the Royal devotees to the last—the Mantap enshrining His Holiness Srī Krishna Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmi—Their Highnesses performed deep pranāms and having mounted two steps of the mantap obtained a near darshan of His Holiness’ “Divyabimbam” and stood for a moment plunged in deep meditation and dismounted slowly without detaching their sight from the image. His Holiness himself seemed deeply moved by the devotion of Their Highnesses as he performed the Mangalārathi to the image. The prokshanam from the kumbham being over, His Holiness performed Mangalārathi once again and offered Sambhavane to his Paramāchārya as was his wont at the Pādapooja on his Birthday celebration style. His Holiness, then, releasing the garlands worn by the Paramāchārya adorned the necks of the Royal worshippers. His Highness then retreating a few steps turned towards the photograph of his Paramāchārya enthroned on the ancient silver gādi of the institution and performing Muzre accompanied Sri Vedāntha Brahmatantra Parakāla-swāmi's Brindāvan. As His Holiness sat on the plain deer-skin spread over on the right of the steps leading to the Brindāvan facing the east, Their Highnesses performed pranāms and having performed "Dhooleipāda-pooja" to His Holiness sat down facing His Holiness on the two pairs of folded laced shawls spread for their āsanam. His Holiness then began his memorable upadesham to Their Highnesses and the great gathering which had filled up the spacious quadrangle. His Holiness expatiated on the greatness of his own as well as Their Highness' Paramāchārya, and congratulated the Royal Sishyas on their steadfast Gurubhakti, quoting all the authorities from the Sāstras and citing the examples of the great sovereigns of India of the past and those of His Highness' ancestors, and then presented to His Highness the photo of the late Āchārya for daily worship in his poojāgriham, with His blessings conveyed by means of appropriate slokas. Their Highnesses rose and received the picture and replacing it on the throne, performed pranāms and offered eight plates of fruits, garlands, flowers, 'Suttuvīlyam', etc., and resumed their seats. Then "Vēdokta Asheervādam" by the assemblage of "Ghanapāthies" and scholars and "Swastivāchanam" by the Purohit of the Sri Mutt followed. Their Highnesses rose and performing “Sāshṭāṅga pranāmams”, were blessed with khillats, garlands with bouquets, gandha, “Suttuvīlyam” and phalamantrākshate, and took leave of His Holiness, expressing their happiness at being privileged to attend the function, and returned to the Palace in full State. Shortly after, by noon, teertham, prasādam, etc., offered to the Deities for the samārādhane, were sent to the Palace. After the bestowal of presents of phalamantrākshate to those present, the function concluded.

In the evening, after the special worship, archana, etc., befitting the occasion, His Holiness led a grand procession of His late Holiness’ idol, enthroned on the ivory Panchakalasha pālkee, escorted by Palace honours through the streets round the Jagannāh Palace returning to the Srī Mutt about midnight. With Vedic chanters behind and with the Divya Prabandham reciters in front of the Pālkee, the procession wended its way slowly, giving opportunities for the house-holders to offer pooja in front of their houses and affording darshan to all who sought it to pay their last homage to the eminent Āchārya who graced the throne of Srī Brahmatantra Parakāla Srī Mutt for nearly three decades with the utmost distinction.

12th January 1925.—At 4 P.M. His Highness the Mahārāja sent for His Holiness’ acceptance two pots of sacred Srī Ganga water with two Srīvaishnava Brahmans accompanied by Srī Ramachandra Rao, Mokhtesar, Ambāvilas and the clerk Srī Dīkshitar, along with four plates of flowers and fruits and one plate of turmeric, kumkum and gandham and a plate of ‘Suttuvīlyam’.

22nd January 1925.—Receipt of Sambhāvane with khillats in the Mutt on the celebration of “Adhyayano-tsavam”, the 13th day of the demise of Mahārājakumāri Srī Jayalakshmiammanavaru in Bangalore.

5th October 1925.—“Paramapada Yātra” procession, etc., conducted as on previous occasions. The marked peculiarity, however, was that the entire Representative Assembly including the Legislative Council which was in session in the Jaganmohan Palace, with the whole Government, led by the Dewan Sir Mirza Ismail suspended its sittings and obtained the privilege of the last darshan of this great Yogin and joined in the procession to the end.

(It may be noticed here, that twenty-two years after, when the “Tirupukuli”, the receptacle enshrining the sacred body of His Holiness had to be opened for clearing it with a view to erecting “Brindāvanam” over it, the amazing view presented itself to the gaze of the spectators, that of being the body was intact, with its posture unchanged, with the namams, the tiruppavitram, the Kāshāya vastram, the palm leaf manuscript in the left hand, and the gnānamudra in the right. Even the kusha grass āsanam remained unaffected in the least, including the salt with which the holy had been covered up. The Yogīndra is still there, in Samādhi. His present Holiness forthwith commanded that it should be covered up again and left as it was nearly a quarter of century ago, lest the Samādhi should be disturbed, and its continued exposure should bring in a terrible calamity to the world.)

Sir Mirza M. Ismail, K.C.I.E.
Dewan of Mysore

9th October 1925.—Interview between His Highness the Mahārāja and Mahāvidwan Atmakur (Hyderabad State) Srī Rangāchārya Swāmi in the afternoon in the “Ambā Vilās” of the Palace to where (in obedience to the commands of His Highness Srīman Mahārāja) conveyed through Srī S. P. His Highness, previously made acquainted with the family history, antecedents, piety, profound erudition, selflessness and unsullied devotion to the duties ordained by the shāstras and utter detachment from worldly affairs in spite of grihasthāshram, comparable only to that of (the founder of the Srī Matham) Srī Nigamāntha Mahā Desikar and more than all, the eminent position which he occupied in the hearts of every one of his colleagues in the Mahārāja’s Sanskrit College and the object of veneration and profound love of his fellow-disciples numbering several thousands, in Mysore, Rāyalaseema, Haiderabad State, in Ayodhya, Rewa, Baroda, Guzerat, Haridwar and in South India, etc., persuaded Srīmad Achārya to accept the succession to the Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt.

His Highness, feeling highly gratified that a great responsibility had been lifted off his shoulders, by the Ācharya’s acceptance, made deep pranāmam and clothed him with a pair of laced shawls and offered plates of flowers, fruits, suttuvilya, etc. Srīmad Ācharya in return garlanded His Highness with his own hands and handed boquet and bestowed phalamatrākshate. His Highness having then taken leave of the Āchārya Swāmi and departed, the Durbar Bakshi conducted the Āchārya to the mena in front of the southern gate “Kudure Bagilu”. Srī Āchārya Swāmi, escorted as before, came to the Mutt, had darshan of Srī Hayagreeva, proceeded to the Brindāvanams, behind, performed Sevas there and emerging from the Srī Mutt was escorted back to his “Tirumaligai”.

His Highness the Mahārāja having been received with customary maryādas by the Hon. Superintendent, the Mukhāmi of the Mutt and the leading officials, Arsus, etc., with “Poornakumbham” and showers of choicest flowers, was conducted to Srī Swāmijee. Having performed pranāms, His Highness conducted the Swāmijee to the silver Simhāsanam (the official and ancient peetham of the Mutt). His Highness then took up his position at the pillar, and facing north in the direction of Srī Hayagrīva in a deeply meditative posture, nodded his head to signify his command to the purohits and others to proceed with the Patabhishekam.

The purohits, with the utmost care and humility, circumspection, but with expedition brought out Lord Srī Lakshmī Hayagrīva, Srī Lakshmī Nārāyana and Srī Venugopāla in the golden peetham and placing them in a golden “Sahasradhāra”, held it over His Holiness’ head and poured out the sacred water from the sanctified poornakumbham, while the prokshanam was being made with the recitation of Srī Purushasookta and other Vedic hymns. His Holiness (now “Srī Lakshmī Hayagrīva Divya Pādukā Sevaka Srīmad Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakāla Mahā Desikar" retreated to his former seat, conducted by His Highness the Mahārāja, who now seated himself on the folded āsanam made up of a pair of laced Kashmir shawls. The entire assembly performing pranām sat down to hear Vidwan Sri Rāllapalli Anantha Krishna Sharma read the "Tanyan" of His Holiness, composed by him and previously approved and sanctioned by His Highness the Mahārāja.

His Holiness now offered Sambhāvane, and sat down to hear the "Swastivāchanam" and "Rājāsheervādam" pronounced. His Holiness in the shape of a sloka blessed His Highness, explaining the meaning himself. The members of the Assembly performed namaskārams and were granted phalamantrākshate according to their rank and position.

 tion of Rs. 300 towards the expenses to be incurred in renovating the “Kudurevāhanam” of Kanchi Srī Varada-rāja Swāmi.*

14th February 1927.—His Holiness at the Mahārāja’s Sanskrit College to adorn the “Adhyakshapeetham” at the annual sabha for prize distribution to the successful students in the examinations, it being His Highness the Mahārāja’s Pattābhishhekam day, Rathasaptami. Mahā-mahopādhyāya Srī Kuppuswāmy Sāstriar, Presidency College, Madras, delivered the address to the students in Sanskrit for over an hour. Having delivered the Presidential Upadesham, His Holiness paid his compliments to the learned lecturer; the Rājāsheervādam having then been pronounced, His Holiness was back at the Ālanahalli Chatram.

5th March 1927.—His Holiness moved out from Ālanahalli Chatram to Srī Krishnāpur (T. Narasipur Taluk) at 10 o'clock in the night.

6th March 1927.—On the way to Krishnāpuram His Holiness made a brief halt for a day at T. Narasipur, the head-quarters of the Taluk. The morning's Abhigamana having been performed, His Holiness, at the invitation of the citizens visited the ancient temple of Srī Lakshmīnarasiṁha Swāmi, where after receiving the temple honours at the place where the escort with "Poornakumbham", etc., was to meet and welcome the holy personage, His Holiness performed darshan of Srī Gunjā Lakshmīnarasiṁha Swāmi, Srī Lakshmi, Srī Āndal, Srī Bhāshyakārar, Srī Nigamāntha Maha Desikar and Srī Jeeyer (Manavāla Mahāmuni) and returned to the Cauvery. After bath and Ijya and Samārādhane, His Holiness, at the request of the townsmen, granted darshan to the inhabitants by agreeing to be conducted in procession through the four main streets, receiving the pranāmams of all and conferring phalamatrākshate on all.

At 4 o'clock His Holiness made his departure from T. Narasipuram and crossing the two rivers Kapila and Cauvery near Mādāpura, reached Krishnāpuram (old town).

7th March 1927.—His Holiness at the New Town of Krishnāpuram, where the "Utsavamūrthi" had been brought away and installed during the last floods (when the old town had to be abandoned). After Seva of Srī Venugopāla Swāmī His Holiness returned to the Srī Mutt and the old town where the Brindāvanam of the great Srī Rāmānuja Parakāla Swami stands. (The reader may be reminded at this stage that this most saintly Swāmī—the founder of New Mysore after 1799, saw seventy-eight Chāturmāsyams having assumed Turīyāshramam when he was only twenty-four years of age and lived up to hundred and two years, 1709–1811.) During his sojourn in Krishnāpuram, extending the privilege of granting Vedānta Kālakshepam, Srīmad Bhagavadvishayam, etc., to the large assembly of all the Srīvaishnavas who had flocked together from the villages around, such as Hemmige, Talakad, Sosale, Srīrangarājapuram, Nadipuram, Dodda Abbagalu, Belakawadi, Kollegal and Satyāgāla, a deputation of the most influential of the Bhāgavathas led by personages like the Sosale Jodidar Srī Titumalai Srīnivāsāchāriar, Srī Rangappa Thāthāchāriar, constituted a sabha under the title “Sathyamangala Tīrthāmrīta Varshini Sabha” and prayed to His Holiness Srī Swāmiji to grace the “Adhyakshatvam” of the Sabha. His Holiness having granted their request and adorned the seat, the leaders reviewed the history of Srīvaishnavism in South India and pointed out the importance of Srī Vedānta Desikar’s exile from Tamilnad, a life and death struggle between Hinduism and Islamic imperialism, the latter having brought about a cataclysm. This last was due to the concerted attack made by the Madura Sultans from the South and the armies of the Delhi Emperors from the North. The Hoysala Empire was virtually surrounded by the Islamic powers and it was left to the last Emperor Vīra Ballāla III (1292–1342) to start from Dwārasamudra, the capital, and move out to the south to combat the menace to the Mysore Empire and to ancient Hinduism—it having considerably changed in its character during the century and a half of Islamic domination. Vīra Ballāla, however, leaving the defence of the northern and north-eastern parts of his dominions to the care of the five brothers Hakka, Bukka, Kampana, Mādappa, and Muddappa, acting under the directions of the saint Srī Vidyāranya Swāmi, moved out to the South and took up his position at Kannanur Koppam, eight miles from Srīrangam. From there he organised the campaign, which ended in the overthrow of Malik Kaffur's creation, the Madura Sultanat (for which he dearly paid with his life, by being assassinated treacherously by one of the embassy which seemingly brought the terms of surrender under a white flag. The head of the decapitated body was subsequently hung up at the gate of Madura which was again closed up and the garrison prepared for a siege). The five brothers blessed by Srī Vidyāranya in the north, under the ægis of the eldest—now Srī Harihara—helped freeing of the menace in that direction.

It was during the terrible slaughter which was brought about in the strip of the Peninsula, comprising the present North Arcot, Chengalput and South Arcot countries, that Srī Vedāntha Desika had to flee for his life (even as Srī Rāmānuja had to do it centuries before when a price was set on his head by the Chola Emperor) and seek shelter in the Mysore (Hoysala) country to save the lives of the two sons of Srī Sudarshana Bhattar, author of “Srutaprakāshika” and also the manuscript itself, both having been entrusted to his care by the Bhattar who sacrificed himself. Srī Vedānta Desika having decided to stay in Satyāgālam for the time being, hoping to be able to return to Srīrangam when the situation improved, started his Kālakshepams there, attracting to himself the large numbers of Srīvaishnavas in the adjoining country of the Hoysalas. The spot in the Srī Varadarāja's temple where the saint sat and conducted his "Kālakshepams" for twelve years came to be marked with the "Koormāsanam" to prevent the hallowed spot from being trodden by unholy feet. The deputation prayed to His Holiness to do something to mark this important link between Tamil Nād and "Kannada Nād" (to which Srī Vedānta Desikar subsequently proceeded to reside for a time—in Melukote (Tirunārāyanapuram), with Srī Nārāyanāchāryar, his son, Srī Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyer and other refugees, who had made up his following.

23rd March 1927.—Srī Mangani Ram Seth, founder and endower of many religious and charitable institutions in Pushkar, etc., had darshan of Srī Swāmijī at Krishnāpuram itself, hearing that His Holiness had been sojourning there, when he came to Mysore and made enquiries. He was the guest of His Holiness for a day, and in the course of his interview he is said to have appealed to His Holiness to consider the advisability of undertaking a visit to Northern India—even as Srī Rāmānuja did a thousand years ago—to remind the people of His teachings. If His Holiness had no objection "on the ground of the Shāstraic prohibition" he would make the journey by car as convenient as possible for His Holiness. The visitor left after expressing his profound gratitude to His Holiness for his expounding within a brief space of time the Vishistādwaita system of philosophy as expounded by Sri Vedānta Desika, the Founder of the Maṭham.

16th May 1927.—As the result of the deliberations in the sabha from day to day, beginning from the “Tirunakshatram” celebration of His Holiness Sri Ranganātha Brahmatranta Parakālaswāmi (16–5–1927) it was decided to call in subscriptions from out of which a hall might be constructed in front of the Koormāsanam adjoining the small Sannidhi which had been raised round it, and make it suitable for lectures, kālakshepams, sabhas, for sevas like Sāttumorai, etc.

This was to be followed up by the installation of images of Sri Lakshmi Hayagrīva and Sri Nigamāntha Mahā Desika, near the “Koormāsanam” and conducting utsavams on every Sravana nakshatram and special utsavam on the first Sravanam day after Sri Vairamudi Utsavam at Melukote. In connection with the last, it was resolved that the extension to the building was to serve the purpose of conducting lectures on the works of Sri Nigamāntha Desika in both Sanskrit and Tamil to enable those who would attend them, to integrate these teachings in daily practices and observances and manner of speech and consistently carrying out the principle of repairing and keeping fit the “Divyādesham”—enjoined on the Srīvaishnava Ācharyas. His Holiness gave the lead to start collection of subscriptions by making a contribution of Rupees 2,000. Out of this and subsequent collections, it became possible to purchase landed properties, out of the incomes of which the objects conceived above were to be achieved. Since then the Madras Hindu Religious Endowment Board has thought it fit to obtain the consent of His Holiness to his gracious acceptance of the position of Chief Trustee of the Sri “Gadādhara Swāmi” and Sri Varadarāja Swāmi temples at Satyāgālam.

The former stands on the Gavirāya hill and the image is also known as “Srī Chaturbhūja Rāma”.

[Paragraphs 3, 4, and 5 (a) and (b), (c) (under the head “Modifications” of the proceedings of the Board of Commissioners for Hindu Religious Endowments, Madras, O.A. No. 393 of 1937, embodying Board’s Order No. 244 dated 14-2-1938.]

31st May 1927.—“Lagnapatrika” of marriage on 5-6-1927 of Sou. Srī Varalakshmiammannigaru, Rājakumāri of Gadwal with Srī Someshwara Rao, Rāja of Donakonda, received in the Mutt (Krishnapur), being delivered in person by Vidwan Srī Harati Deekshāchārya of Gadwal. His Holiness’ blessings sought.

1st June 1927.—At 8-30 in the morning His Holiness departed from Krishnāpuram to return to Mysore, after Abhigamanam in the Srī Mutt and Seva at Srī Vengopālaswāmi’s temple. On the way His Holiness accepting the invitation of Jodidar Srī Thirumalai Srīnivasachāriar of Sosale arrived at the outskirts of the Krishnarāja Agrahar on 2-6-1927, where temple honours from Srī Srīnivāsa Gopālakrishnaswāmi’s temple were received. Having received the Poornakumbham and other maryādas, preceding them by Namaskārāms, His Holiness was conducted to Srī Srīnivāsa Gopālāchāriar’s residence. At the gate dhooli pādapooja was performed and sambhāvane offered, and His Holiness was conducted inside and entreated by that Āchārya to instal the Srī Hayagrīva and have the day’s Ijya and the Sandhya Ārādhanams in his house as also the far-famed ‘vajradolotsavam’ in the evening. The Swāmiji condescended to grant the Āchārya’s prayer. All the vaidikas, laukikas, citizens, merchants, all castes and creeds of people and all the Government officials combined to make His Holiness visit a triumphal progress. Sudras imposed upon every one of themselves a levy of one seer per head of rice and the accompanying lavājama, along with feeding, at their expense, for the elephants, the horses and the bullocks in the camp. All castes and creeds en masse joined in the Seva of His Holiness, and of Srī Hayagrīva.

3rd June 1927.—His Holiness, breaking up his camp at Krishnāpuram in the night and finishing the Abhigamanārādhana at Srī Tirumale Srīnivāsāchārya in the morning, complying with the request of Srī Yajamāna Raghavachāryar, proceeded to Srīrangarajapuram Agrahar with Srī Hayagrīva, escorted by all the Mutt honours to the house of the host and performed the noon ijyārādhanam there. This was followed by Samārādhane. In the afternoon His Holiness had darshan of the Utsavamūrthi of Srī Venugopālaswāmi at 4 o'clock and having offered dhoties and Mangalārathi received the temple honours such as Tirupparivattam, Tirumalai and thence returned to Sosale at 5 o'clock in the evening for performing the evening Bhagavadārādhanam and Samārādhanam in Srī Tirumalai Srīnivāsāchāryar's house. After this His Holiness held an "Asthānam" in the hall of Srī Srīnivāsāchāryar's house and addressed the big gathering for the space of an hour congratulating the host and his fellow Āchāryapurushas the denizens adorning the banks of the Cauveri on maintaining the traditions and culture of the south unimpaired in spite of their opulence and worldly position, honoured by their sishyas and tenants of all castes and creeds so as to uphold the teachings of the ancient Ālwars and Āchāryas in the midst of modern changing conditions and become thereby shining examples of piety and devotion and equality towards all.

Srī Āchārya then rose and submitted a suitable reply to His Holiness that as the occupant of the peetham of Srī Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyer and the worshipper of Srī Hayagrīva, the heritage left to Srī Vedānta Desikar, His Holiness by his own way of life had set the example for succeeding generations and after all they themselves were only small toys in the process.

4th June 1927.—Arrival at Ālanahalli Chatram in the morning. After Abhigamanam and the noon Ijyā-rādhanam, His Holiness started to Mysore at 1-30 P.M. and arrived at 3 o'clock in the Srī Maṭham. The usual first class honours from the Palace escorted His Holiness and the twenty-one guns salute was fired from the bathery.

11th June 1927.—His Holiness' presence as usual at the Birthday celebration of His Highness the Mahārāja in the Palace. Pādapooja by His Highness and bestowal of thīrthams by His Holiness followed by the conferring of khillats, garland with boquet, phalamantrākshate, etc., along with blessings on His Highness. This was followed by the presentation of phalamantrākshate along with garlands to Rājakumār Srī Desarāje Urs and Sirdar Srī Lakshmi kantharāj Urs and Dewan Sri Sir Mirza Ismail.

14th June 1927.—Visit of Srī Pundit Madan Mohan Mālaviya. Accompanied by Srī. C. Rāmānujiengar, Principal, Mahārāja's Sanskrit College, Mysore, Palace Assistant Secretary Srī Rama Rao and Srī V. Subrahmanya Aiyar, Retired Registrar of the Mysore University, the Pundit after duly performing pranāmams, burst forth with the prayer "when will Your Holiness be pleased to grant the privilege of darshan at Benares by your presence?" These were exactly the words. The visitor then proceeded to describe graphically that at least in

Northern India, Hindu religion in the matter of the numbers who profess it stood in great danger of losing its hold on the masses, that the faiths of Islam and Christianity had been making great strides among the lower classes, i.e., the so-called "untouchables". If this process went on unimpeded, like a tidal wave, it would overwhelm and engulf the Southern Indians also in no time, and the sense of security under which they were living may in all likelihood be jeopardised. Consequently if His Holiness could not straight away proceed to the North and grant "upadeshams" to the people there, His Holiness may at least be pleased to bless him with shāstraic authorities by the force of which he could himself, acting on that authority, do something to remove the sting of "untouchability" and offer hopes to that community that they may gradually elevate themselves to a position of equality with the caste Hindus by engaging in certain practices which may enable them to contemplate God and feel the joy and happiness of feeling that they were in constant companionship with God within themselves and thereby cease to think of their more fortunately born brothers in the faith as their enemies and oppressors.

His Holiness the Swāmiji gave a most patient and sympathetic hearing and promised to do his best to elevate the "Tirukkulattars" (as Bhagavān Sri Rāmānuja had done before) without conflict with the Dharmasāstras, which had no provision for a class mistakenly called "Panchamas" although there were terms "chandālas" and outcastes, which was due to certain circumstances which had nothing to do with the 'Varnāshrama Dharma'. If the Pundit would offer suggestions for improving the lot of these unfortunates, which would instil into their minds the hope that they could attain salvation, in spite of certain disabilities to which they were subject by continuing to remain under the Hindufold, His Holiness would consider them. But His Holiness felt that as far as he himself was concerned, instead of giving his opinion to that effect in his individual capacity, it would be more effective and authoritative if the question could be decided in a representative Sabha convened for the purpose. Sri Mālavīya was extremely delighted and readily fell in with the idea of His Holiness and prayerfully begged His Holiness to convene a Sabha forthwith in the Mutt in the presence of the Deity under the Adhyakshata of His Holiness himself.

Accordingly messengers were sent forth by His Holiness in every direction to invite the leading Vidwāns in the capital, the Dharmādhikāris, the Mahāvidwāns, representatives of other important Mathams, prominent Laukikas, both non-official and official, to an emergent Sabha in the Mutt, in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. The response, though prompted by various feelings, was quick and ready. By 2 o'clock the Mutt hall became cramful in proportion to the importance of the subject.

His Highness was represented by Amin-ul-Mulk Sir Mirza Ismail (later Dewan), Private Secretary and Sri Srikantha Lakshmikāntharāj Urs. The hall in the first floor of the building was found more suitable for this non-religious gathering.

Exhaustive discussion followed under the Presidentship of His Holiness in which scholars like Mahāmahopādhyāya Sri Viroopāksha Sāstrigal, Paurānikaratnam Sri Holavanahalli Seshāchar and others and Sri Mālavīya had the largest share.

At the conclusion of the meeting for that afternoon,

His Holiness as Adhyaksha, after hearing arguments advanced by the different participants in the discussion, gave his opinion supported by the Shāstras that “Mantradeeksha” with some modification may be given to the “Tirukkulattars” without prejudice to their spirit. However, it being late for His Holiness’ bath and evening worship, His Holiness proposed that the Sabha, if it found it necessary, might meet again on the morrow.

The discussions and arguments were all carried in Sanskrit, but His Holiness while summarising the proceedings translated it all into Kannada to the joy and gratitude of the non-Sanskrit knowing portion of the audience.

The next day the Sabha met and the opinion previously formed was confirmed by the final judgment of His Holiness. The Punditjee was overwhelmed with joy and gratitude and took leave of His Holiness feeling that he had been blessed. The foundation for the uplift of the Harijans was thus truly and well laid here, in the institution presided over by Srī Rāmānuja and in the Srī Sannidhi of Lord Srī Hayagrīva which he got as a gift from Devi Srī Saraswati at Kashmir.

20th June 1927.—Arrival of the Honorary Superintendent of the Srī Mutt, Srī Mahāvidwān Dharmādhikāri Srī Tiruvallur Srīnivāsarāghavāchāryaswāmi, bringing the khillats from the Srī Rāni of Gadwal set apart as Sambhāvane to Srī Swāmi at the marriage of Srī Sou. Varalakshmi Ammagāru.

kāris and the Laukikas were Srī Chikkalingappāji Urs, the Muzrai Bakshi to represent His Highness the Mahārāja, the Palace Assistant Private Secretary Srī M. Rama Rao, Srī Kuppuswamy Iyengar, the Municipal President, Srī Rāmanāthan, the Deputy Commissioner, Mysore District, Srī Sirdar M. P. Interview with His Holiness to acquaint himself with the tenets of Sri Rāmānuja's philosophy directly from the occupant of His peetham and worshipper of Lord Sri Hayagrīva, given to Him by Sri Saraswati, as tradition has it. The scholar was immensely pleased with His Holiness' elucidation of the system (in Sanskrit) which left him in no doubt. The great savant asked and got the Swāmiji's own portrait that it might adorn the walls of the University of Marburg and begged that the image, in silver, of Lord Sri Hayagrīva Nārāyana (with Lakshmi) be made and sent to the University to constitute one of the collections there.

On his return from his travels, a letter acknowledging the gifts with thanks, on behalf of the University, was received in the Sri Mutt on 26-6-1931. The copy of the letter is given as hereunder:

17th March 1929.—At 10 o'clock this night His Holiness started to Satyāgāl for carrying out the “Pratishtha” ceremony of the Koormāsanam marking the hallowed spot which Sri Nigamāntha Desikar graced for conducting “Kālakshepam” during his long sojourn there as an exile from the Tamil Nād for the space of twelve years before he proceeded to Tirunārāyanapuram (Melukote). Amongst his disciples there were Sri Nāyanār Āchāryar, Sri Brahmaswatantra Jeeyer, the two sons of Sri Sudarshana Bhattar and Sri Kandāde Lakshmanāchāriyar (afterwards called Tīrthappillai for having been thoroughly rid of a stubborn disease by swallowing Sri Vedāntadesikar's Srīpāda Tīrtham daily for a year).

18th March 1929.—At 5 o'clock in the morning His Holiness reached T. Narasipur (Nrisimhapuram) and took up his abode in the Parnakuteeram which the Amildar Sri. Sītārāma Iyengar had put up for the purpose at the Kapila and the Cauveri Sangam. After conducting the morning's Abhigamanam, escorted by the Sri Gunjā Narasimha swāmi's temple Maryādas, His Holiness crossed the river and welcomed by the inhabitants with Lord Sri Hayagrīva in procession granted the darshan to the citizens, passing through the main streets. Arriving at the temple at noon, His Holiness performed sevas in all the Sannidhis and setting up the Sri Mutt Deities in the Sri Sannidhi of Tāyār (Lakshmi), performed (ijya worship) there. The samārādhane for the afternoon was performed at the Sri Mutt at his own personal expense by Sri Sītārāma Iyengar, the Amildar. In the afternoon His Holiness granted darshan to individuals and groups who sought and gave them all his valuable "Upadesham" in easy conversational style, clearing doubts and correcting erroneous ideas. The listeners were thus familiarised with the main teaching of Sri Rāmānuja and the way to salvation through practising bhakti and saranāgati, quoting extensively from the Upanishads, Itihāsas, Purānas. All the visitors were granted blessings in the shape of phalamantrākshate. The entire afternoon having been spent thus. His Holiness took his evening bath and conducted the worship in the same Sannidhi, womenfolk being the chief beneficiaries of darshan and tīrtham and prasādām.

After finishing the evening worship His Holiness moved out of T. Narasipur and arrived at Kaliyur Tope at 5 o'clock on the morning of 19-3-1929.

By the time His Holiness had finished the morning's Abhigamanārādhanam, the inhabitants of the village arrived with plates of flowers and fruits and having had darshan of the Deities at the concluding portion and submitted their offerings, received tirtham, etc., and begged His Holiness to pass in procession through the streets along with the Deities and concede the privilege of darshan to every one in the place on his way to Kollegal, which His Holiness reached at noon. The citizens of Kollegal had erected a beautiful pavilion where, under the headship of the President of the Taluk Board they had been eagerly waiting with offerings of flowers and fruits in trays in their hands, gave a warm-hearted reception to His Holiness and escorted him through the decorated streets of the town with the Lord in front followed by Sri Swāmiji behind. The multitude surrounding His Holiness and the Lord was representative of all castes and creeds and all stations in life, officials, merchants and vaidikas. Escorted by such an enthusiastic gathering, His Holiness granting darshan to all, reached Sri Lakshminārāyanaswāmi's temple by 1 o'clock in the afternoon. His Holiness took up his residence and performed Iyjārādhana there. The great assembly had the privilege of seva and received tirtham and prasādam.

The Tadiyārādhana in the Sri Mutt was conducted at the expense of the citizens who had also made arrangements of the santarpane of all the servants on the establishment (sibbandi) on a large scale in a place not far removed from the temple.

At 4-30 P.M. His Holiness' visit to "Vedapāthasālā" where the public had assembled. As in T. Narasipur, individuals and groups had darshan and interview, with His Holiness in which Upadeshams were delivered in familiar conversational form. Phalamantrākshate and blessings having been conferred on the Assemblage His Holiness performed the evening worship which was largely attended ; and the “Dolotsavam” took place in the midst of great rejoicings and enthusiasm.

Late in the night His Holiness started to Satyāgālam, His chief destination, and took up his abode in Sri Varadarāja’s temple. Before leaving Kollegal His Holiness conferred an amount (sambhāvane) for being distributed among the scholars and teachers of the Veda Pāthasāla.

20th March 1929.—Camp at Satyāgālam.

In the evening, complying with the request of the people, His Holiness with the Deities went in procession through the streets of Satyāgālam, to witness which citizens from Kollegal also had thronged. The Satyāgālam camp had the look of an army of worshippers who vied with each other in offering their homage to the Deities and to the Āchārya Swāmi.

(In most of the functions connected with the Jeernoddhāram at Sri Varadarājaswāmi’s temple in Satyāgālam Sri Assori Rajiengar figured most prominently, taking the leading part even from the moment that the sabha was launched forth.)

At 7 o’clock in the evening the initial ceremony relating to the sanctification of the Mantap and the Koormāsana Jeernoddhāranam by installing Sri Vedāntadesikar’s Vigraham over it, namely, “Ankurārpanam” was gone through.

21st March 1929.—At 12 o’clock noon the “pratishtha” of Sri Desikar and the mantap was duly solemnised in the midst of a large assembly gathered there. After the consecration Sri Hayagrīva had “Dolotsavam” in the Mutt’s golden cradle. At the Dolotsavam Sri Natarājaiya, Sangīta Vidwan, son of Sri Mallappa, President of the Kollegal Taluk Board, gave a brilliant performance in vocal music by way of seva to Sri Hayagrīva, which was extolled by the audience. Sri Assoori Rajiengar had ‘Sevārtha’ done at his expense. Before the Dolotsavam, a procession of the silver image of Srīmad Abhinava Hayagrīva (installed in the Mutt by His Holiness the present Swāmiji) Sri Bhāshyakārar and Sri Vedāntha Desikar in the “Prākāra” of the temple.

22nd March 1929.—Camp: Satyāgālam.

Sri Natarājaiya had Kashmir shawl conferred on him by His Holiness along with phalamantrākshate and blessings. During the four days’ sojourn in Satyāgālam, a large number of seekers after Brahnavidya had the benefit of His Holiness’ Upadesham. Having thus recalled history by this Jeernoddhāranam, His Holiness established a spiritual link between South Tamil Nād and Melnād (Mysore) country, which future generations may strengthen and develop further. That hope is justified by the fact that, soon after, the Madras Government took adequate measures to the proper conduct of the services by authorising the Hindu Religious Endowments Board to appoint trustees to supervise the temple, one permanent trustee being the “Mathādhipathi of the Sri Parakālaswāmi Mutt in Mysore and his successors in that office from time to time” in the Board’s Order No. 791 dated 31st of July, the year 1931 formulating a “Scheme”.

During the period intervening between the middle of March 1927 and now, exactly 24 months since the meeting at Krishnāpur of the “Satyamangalatīrthāmrita-varshinī Sabha”, and with the start made by His Holiness Srī Swāmijī by the gift of Rs. 2,000 the Sabha had been able with subscriptions to construct a spacious mantap, in front of the shrine containing the Koormasanam at the spot where Srī Nigāmantha Mahādesikar had conducted his kālakshepam for twelve years. His Holiness had now been invited to throw open this hall and to instal the sanctified image of Srī Vedāntha Desikar on the Peetham itself. It was a part of the “Jeernoddhāram” of the Divyādeshas which was incumbent on the Vaishnava Āchāryas that His Holiness wished to accomplish as far as it lay in his power.

This was the first of such acts that His Holiness accomplished after two years of its inception. [Other similar projects carried out by His Holiness were the repairs and new extensions to the old Srī Mutts at

1. Tirumalai Hills.

2. Magadi (the place where Srī Periyaparakāla Swāmi dwelt (in his poorvāshram).

3. Melukote.

Yet another new creation of His Holiness in this direction was at Tooppil in Sri Kanchi, the abode of Srī Vedānta Desikar, where the building constructed by Srī “Jāta-Brahmachāri” Aravāmuda Aiyangar having been willingly surrendered to Srī Brahmatantra Parakāla Mutt in Mysore, was received and where since a “Veda Vedānta Vardhini Pāthasāla” has been located. Some sevas have also been instituted newly there such as “Mangalashāsanotsavam”, “Tirunakshatrotsavam” of Srī Nigamāntha Desikar, “Anushtānakolotsavam”, etc. To supervise and have the services conducted duly and to maintain the structures in proper trim a local agent has been appointed by the Srī Swāmijī, the present incumbent in that office being Srī A. Bālasundaram Modaliar Avargal.

4. At Dhanushkoti, Srī Pattanna Thāthāchāryar, on 30-10-1939 handed over to the Srī Mutt Srī Rāma's temple, himself being allowed to act as the Agent during his lifetime (through a settlement deed).

5. At Tirukkurungudi, Tirunelveli District (28-12-1942), Srī Nigamāntha Desikar's Sannidhi belonging to Srī Vedāntha Srīnivasa Aiyargar who executed a settlement deed in favour of His Holiness along with certain landed properties to maintain it.

6. It was a loss which the State could ill sustain, considering that she had occupied a place only equalled by the Mahārāni Sri Lakshmī Ammanniavaru, struggling against almost insurmountable odds, bearing all her troubles as a “Veerapatni” and Veera Māta as of old. The Mysore of modern times owes its pre-eminence to this great soul. She was conscious that she owed her success to the Divine grace of Lord Sri Hayagrīva as expressed through her Paramāchārya His late Holiness Sri Krishna Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmi, her Vedāntic knowledge to His Holiness Sri Vāgeesha Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmi and that her path to salvation lay along the path marked out for her by His present Holiness Srimad Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmi. Srī Bhāgavath tīrtham and Srīpāda tīrtham were distributed. The same was also sent for being distributed among Their Highnesses the Mahārāni, Yuvamahārāni and other ladies of the Royal Family. Towards this end His Holiness set apart Rs. 2,000 per annum till the end of 1933 to carry out the objects in view. Finding the inadequacy of the amount His Holiness in 1933 sought His Highness' approval for earmarking an additional amount of Rs. 1,000 per annum and bring up the total to Rs. 3,000 to be spent out of the tasdik amount of Rs. 30,000 that is, a tenth of the grant. For this also His Highness the Mahārāja signified his ready approval (No. 130, dated 28–8–1933 of Office of the Huzur Secretary).

At that rate by the end of 1938–39 a total amount of Rs. 29,167 had accumulated out of which an amount of Rs. 16,233–5–10 had been spent leaving a balance of Rs. 12,943–10–2. [A further sum of Rs. 1,500 was added to the above sum on the 10th of August 1945 being the amount held in abeyance out of the sale value of the aforesaid villages (see Order dated 13-2-1945, Muz. Commissioner).]

The whole amount of Rs. 26,500 carrying an interest of 4% (Government) has become an endowment and has been accepted as "Charitable Trust Endowment". A further addition was made to the endowment by way of the interest of Rs. 600 per annum on Rs. 4,800 being the proceeds of the purchase of Nagasettyhalli, Magadi Taluk, Bangalore (14-7-1947). Thus, the amount at the disposal of Vidyāsākha of the Mutt amounted in total to Rs. 31,300 bringing an annual income of Rs. 1,252. Add to this Rs. 250 per mensem out of the tasdik amount. Thus the monthly expenses on the Vidyāsākha have amounted to Rs. 355.

2. The granting of scholarships to them and to enable them to meet further expenditure.
3. Salary to Pundits engaged for teaching them.

During his short life, the great Ruler had not only built for himself a niche in the heart of every one of his subjects but commanded the love, esteem and reverence of every considerable person in the international world. A thoroughly constitutional monarch, he was as much full of compassion to the toiling masses as he was dear to his immediate servitors, ever engaged in conceiving new projects, calculated to promote the economic, cultural and moral well-being of his subjects. By his search for truth and knowledge of the philosophical teachings of the Upanishads, he had come to be ranked among the Rājarshis of ancient times

His understanding of the arts, engineering, architecture and proficiency in music were as thorough as was his knowledge of modern constitutions. To his English friends of all grades he was a source of awe, reverence and inspiration. In every way, he was an ideal Sovereign for all times and for all regions of the earth.

His Highness should know that the sorrow was not only his, but was that of seven million sharers. He had the example of his father, his Royal uncle the Rajarshi, and student of history as he himself was, he knew the way of life of every one of his great ancestors. He had also a loyal band of officials under him whose responsibilities had now increased as His Highness' were. Even for reducing the sorrows of his subjects His Highness should give up his and cheer them up by undertaking his responsibilities with energy and resoluteness. His Highness obtained a distinct and clear view of the Deities, was plunged in deep meditation during the time, concentrating his thoughts upon the divine sight. His Holiness then offered to God tray after tray of the choice fruits, flowers, etc., which His Highness had brought with him for being offered to the Deity. His Holiness then releasing the double garland adorning the Deity garlanded His Highness with his own hands, offered the Srī Shata-gopam on His Highness' bended head, conferred the tīrtham and tulasi prasādam and circumambulating the divyamantap and descending the steps of the Srī Sannidhi, uttered his ardent welcome and conducted His Highness to his own study apartment, the Kālakshepa kootam. His Holiness having expressed his unbounded joy at this unceremonious visit of His Highness, particularly on a sravanam and congratulated His Highness on his good fortune which augured for his future prosperity, and the divine grace of Lord Hayagrīva. His Holiness then blessed His Royal Disciple with a brief Upadesham dwelling on the avatār of Srī Nārāyaṇa as Srī Hayagrīva on earth and its purpose of conferring divine Gnānam and the resulting Ānandam, of which He is the embodiment, on all his votaries, particularly on the privileged rulers of Mysore and their subjects in the midst of whom He had elected to abide permanently, having come down from Srī Saraswati Devi to Srī Rāmānuja and thence to Srī Pillan and to Srī Vedānta Desika and to Srī Brahmatantra Swatantra. The upadesham lasted twenty-five minutes. His Holiness then bade his Royal Sishya repeat his visits like this as often as he could even like his great ancestors had been wont to do.

His Holiness then conferred his blessings on His Highness with garlands, bouquet and phalamantrākshate. Sri Muddarāj Urs, attending on His Highness was then the recipient of garland and phalamantrākshate. His Highness then took leave of Sri Swāmiji and was accompanied by Sri Muddarāj Urs. His Holiness having conferred tīrtham and tulasi prasādam on everyone of the visitors including Sri Basavarāj Urs, the Sri kāryakartha garlanded them all. Emerging from Sri Sannidhi His Holiness was followed by the visitors to the Kālakshepa kootam. There the visitors, having performed pranāms, were bidden to sit down. It will be relevant at this point to mention that the various Endowments which His Holiness has made during nearly a quarter of a century has been rendered possible by the hearty and steadfast co-operation tendered by the various officials of the Government beginning with Rājamantrapravina Srī A. V. Rāmanāthan, who, in response to the desire expressed by His late Holiness Srī Vāgīsha Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmi and under the direct command of His Highness, took over the management of the landed properties of the Srī Mutt on behalf of the Government. According to this arrangement, after making the necessary deductions, the net income from the lands was to be handed over to the Srī Mutt along with the accounts. In the first instance, the arrangement was to be treated as an experimental and a temporary measure, to find out whether the innovation would be conducive to the advantage of the Srī Mutt. The result showed that His Holiness was thoroughly justified in starting the experiment. His successor, the present Holiness Srīmad Abhinava Ranganātha Yatīndra, realising the advantageousness of the scheme, was pleased to direct that the arrangement should continue indefinitely.

Yet another arrangement for the sound conduct of the affairs of the Srī Mutt was made by His Holiness with the approval of His Highness the Mahārāja, immediately after his accession to the Peetham. It may even serve as a model for similarly placed institutions all over the country. It is the constitution of an "Advisory Committee" to help His Holiness by proffering advice in all worldly affairs connected with the administration of the Srī Mutt. The Committee is also empowered to scrutinise the administration, have the accounts periodically audited by duly qualified auditors and guide and advise the officials. This has contributed much to the peace of mind and relief from anxieties of His Holiness, who, however, has wisely reserved to himself all matters connected with the moral and spiritual welfare of the institution in his own hands, to enable him to carry out the injunctions of Srī Varadarāja Swāmi of Kanchi to the founder of the Srī Mutt Srī Periya Brahmatantra Swatantra Jeeyer, and thus to carry on the work of Srī Rāmānuja and Srī Nigamāntha Mahā Desikar, the Paramāchāryar of Srī Brahmatantra Swatantra. The members of the Committee when it was first constituted were:—

1. Srī Rao Bahadur M. C. Ranga Aiyangar, B.A., B.L., Advocate (President).
2. „ Rājakavibhūshana H. Lingarāj Urs, Palace Muzrai Bakshi.
3. „ T. Krishna Iyengar, B.A., B.L., Retired Sub-Judge.
4. „ S. Rangāchārlu, Retired Deputy Inspector of Schools.
5. „ C. Rāmānuja Aiyangar, M.A., L.T., Principal, Mahārāja's Sanskrit College (Secretary).

The late Gurusevāsakta Srīman Dharmādhikāri Tiruvallur Srīnivāsa Rāghavāchāryar as “Honorary Superintendent” was extremely helpful to His Holiness in trying to realise many of the aspirations of Srī Swāmijī towards enlarging the sphere of the activities of the institution:—

1. By starting the “Vedāntha Desika Vihāra Sabha”.
2. By opening of a Vidyāsākha in the Mutt—
(a) to give such training to the pundit students as will fit them to undertake missionary work of a character which will help preserve the orthodox faith without coming into conflict with the present advance of modern ideas in the spiritual field;

(b) to start similar institutions in places like Kānchipuram and provide recurring monthly and annual grants to them;

(c) to educate and train the younger scholars to study the shāstras, to recite the Vedas and the Divya-prabandhams, to help as purohits versed in "Poorva and Apara Prayogams" and thus help the community at large in the performance of sacred rites and to serve as a "Guru-kula" under the personal supervision of His Holiness;

(d) to grant some aid to students of High Schools and Colleges—irrespective of caste—in the shape of grants to institutions like the "Anāthālaya", the "Vidyo-daya Sabha", "Vedāntha Desika Grantha Prachārini Sabha", the "Ubhaya Vedāntha Pravarthana Sabha" (Melkote), etc.;

(e) to grant "padies" to students of all castes, to students coming from outside, and to those who are studying in the Sanskrit Colleges and to establish "Sākha mutthas" like those at Bangalore, Māgadi, Kānchipuram, Rāmanāthapuram, Sathyāgālam, Allahabad;

(f) to acquire Sannidhis for worship by agents appointed by the Srī Mutt at Srīrangam, Dhanushkodi, Ālwar, Tirungari, Tirukkurangudi, Fateh Darwaza (Hyderabad), Shahpur (Mahabubnagar District, Hyderabad), etc.;

(g) to help publish reprints of great works like:—

(i) Srī Parakāla Yatīndra Granthamāla Series
(Telugu characters, edited and published by Srī P. B. Annangar Āchāriyar of Srī Kanchi),

(ii) Sri Nityānusandhānam, Tiruvoimuzhi (Mudal Ayiram), Sri Desika Prabandham (Telugu characters, published by the Sri Mutt);

(h) to print voluminous standard works—for all times—written by His Holiness himself, the chief being of which

- (i) Sri Hayasira Upākhyānam,
- (ii) Vyākhyānam Hayasiroratnabhūshanam,
- (iii) Sarvārtha Siddhi Vyākhyānam, Volumes I-III (Mysore Government Oriental Library);

(i) to print in the form of “Uparyāsa Māla”

- (i) Summaries of lectures delivered by His Holiness himself at the Sabhas in the Sri Mutt,
- (ii) by the Vidwāns of the Sri Mutt and of the Government Training College,
- (iii) the Sanskrit College and other institutions on the Darshanas, Āgamas, Sanāthana Dharma, as also on social, religious and dhārmic subjects at the big meetings presided over by His Holiness;

(j) The vast additions made to the Sri Mutt Library;

(k) individual donations to help construction of buildings for educational institutions like the Sārada Vilās Educational Society (Rs. 2,000), Krishnarajpet High School (Rs. 1,000), “Brāhmaṇa Vidyā Sahāya Sangha” of Bangalore (Rs. 1,000), Vedasāstra Poshini Sabha, Mysore (Rs. 1,000) and numerous other conferences, associations, etc., in a smaller degree;

(l) the erection of the Divya Mantap to enshrine the Deities (silver, weighing 25,000 tolas), as also the Koormapitham;

(m) providing several more silver and gold vessels, etc., for the Deities' use in daily worship and on special occasions, the silver cradle being one of them;

(n) consecration of Sri Lakshmi-Hayagriva image to enable the worshippers to have a correct idea of the original image worshipped by Sri Saraswati, Sri Ramanuja, Sri Tirukkurukai Piran Pillan, Sri Nigamatha Mahadesikar and Sri Brahmatastra Swatantra Jeeyer;

(o) construction and consecration of the well "Sri Hayagriva Pushkarani" in the garden (tulasi and flowers) adjoining the Sri Mutt (Rs. 19,000);

(p) the crowning of the tower gate of the Mutt with gold gilt kalashams (Rs. 6,000) and consecrating the same.

3. Another scheme started by His Holiness the present Swami clearly demonstrates the correct understanding of the difficulties of the servants in the employ of the Sri Mutt from the economic point of view. It is the starting of the Provident Fund Scheme within a period of three years after his accession to the Peetham. This has enabled him to assure continuity to the tenure of service of the workers amongst whom are a large number of Vidwans who have passed the Vidwat Examinations of Mysore and the 'Siromani' examinations of Madras. Some of them are granted liberal scholarships—not to speak of other emoluments which they receive at the gatherings, such as the annual Veda Shashtra Vidwat Bahumana Sabha—incidental to Chaturmasya Sri Vedanta Desika Vihara Sabha, etc. The Scholarships are intended to enable them to engage in further advanced studies pre-eminently in Srī Vishistādwaita Vedāntha and enable them to propagate the Srīvaishnava cult in the country.

It will thus be seen that His Holiness, like everyone of his thirty-two predecessors in the holy peetham, has been giving every moment of his life for Service—which is his motto—to further the objects which the last great Hoysala Emperor Srī Vīraballāla III of Mysore was enjoined to achieve—as also his successors on the Mysore Throne, of Course—by Srī Varadarāja Swāmi of Kānchipuram Himself, their subjects and the peoples of the South in general. May Srī Lakshmi-Hayagrīva Divya Pādukā Sevaka Srimad Abhinava Ranganātha Brahmatantra Parakālaswāmi live long to continue the task allotted to him by God, to the fullest span of his life which may be allotted to him by God, even like Srī Rāmānuja Parakāla-swāmi, Srī Vedāntha Desika and Srī Bhagavān Rāmānuja!
